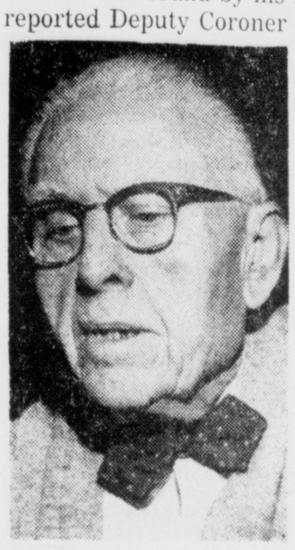
Clessie Cummins, Automotive Diesel Inventor, Dies

Retired Engineering Expert Continued Inventive Work

Clessie L. Cummins of Sausalito, inventor of the automotive diesel engine some 40 years ago, died early yesterday in his home at 80 Cloud View Road at the age of 79.

He was found by his nurse, Mrs. Alberta Boland, reported Deputy Coroner Richard W. Madigan. Cummins apparently died of a heart attack, he said.



CLESSIE L. CUMMINS
Famed inventor dies

A native of Honey Creek, Ind., Cummins lived in Sausalito since 1952.

The famed engineer and industrialist founded the Cummins Engine Co., Inc., at Columbus, Ind., in 1919, and served as its president and board chairman until retiring 12 years ago.

The firm still ranks as the world's largest independent producer of high-speed automotive diesels.

Before Cummins put the diesel under the hood, diesel engines were limited to ships and huge generators because of their weight-power ratio. He adapted the cumbersome engine to truck use, thus revolutionizing highway transportation.

In 1929, Cummins fitted a four-cylinder marine diesel into a Packard automobile and drove it from Indianapolis to New York City on $1.38 worth of fuel oil. The impact of his feat on the automotive industry was almost as great as that of the stock market crash a few months earlier.

In 1931, Cummins fitted an eight-ton truck with his diesel and drove it from New York City to Los Angeles in 97 hours on $11.28 worth of fuel.

Cummins, whose name became synonymous with "diesel," also developed a diesel race car and circled the Indianapolis Speedway non-stop for 500 miles in the 1931 Memorial Day classic. He finished 12th and averaged 86 miles an hour.

During World War II, he served as director of the War Production Board's internal combustion engine division.

After retiring, Cummins lived for a few years in Hillsborough and Palo Alto, then bought 30,000 acres south of Gilroy and established three cattle ranches.

After moving to Sausalito, Cummins continued "to find ways to do things better," as he liked to put it, and worked long hours in his basement workshop. His "retirement" work included development of a diesel "engine brake" and an improved fuel system for automotive diesels.

Red Envoy Condemns Paris Talks

PARIS (AP) — A North Vietnamese spokesman described the Paris peace talks today as being like "talks in a closed room with all the doors locked." He said that only a halt in the American bombing of North Vietnam "would permit the doors to be opened so we can see what is in the room."

Nguyen Thanh Le, chief spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegations, gave a news conference a lengthy rundown of what he called American atrocities in North and South Vietnam.

He repeated over and over the demand that the "United States unconditionally halt the bombing and all other acts of war against the whole of the territory of the Democratic People's Republic of Vietnam so that the official talks can move ahead to discussion of other points interesting the two parties."

He was asked to comment on a report published by Newsweek that U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman had received secret word the North Vietnamese were ready to give assurances they would stay out of the de-

DUCKY SPORT FOR A RAINY DAY

This morning's soft rainfall kept the golfers inside and left the San Geronimo Valley Golf Course all to the ducks. For them this calm pond near the 17th tee was no water hazard, as they seemed to enjoy the unseasonable downpour and the absence of whizzing golf balls. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Humphrey Asks Peace; Demos Differ On How

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey put in a preview appearance yesterday, pledging to strive for "lasting peace in Vietnam," as the opening arguments over delegate seating and platform positions were sounded in a preface to the Democratic National Convention. (See other stories on page 26.)

Humphrey's forum was the amphitheatre in which he hopes to win the Democratic presidential nomination in 10 days; his audience was the friendly United Steelworkers Union.

The forces of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, Humphrey's chief rival, deployed in Chicago for a struggle over the right of nearly 800 delegates to take convention seats, and in Washington to press for the peace-line platform plank they seek on the Vietnam issue.

An effort to end the Humphrey-McCarthy dispute over a Vietnam plank collapsed as the Democrats' platform committee opened a week of hearings.

McCarthy's campaign manager, Blair Clark, rejected as thoroughly inadequate a compromise cease-fire plan proposed by educator Clark Kerr.

McCarthy argues for a platform advocating an immediate bombing halt and a new Saigon government including Communist representation.

Humphrey charged that course envisioned a forced coalition, and insisted any bombing halt must be matched bysome Communist gesture of restraint.

Kerr proposed a standstill cease-fire to leave each side in Vietnam in control of the territory it now holds, pending free elections.

"There is no disposition to take a step backward on this issue," Clark retorted. "The Kerr proposal is thoroughly inadequate—it is just not good enough."

In Chicago, Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, chairman of the convention Credentials Committee, rejected a move to bar challenged delegates from voting in any convention proceedings.

That represented an apparent

Arguments Delay Trial For Newton

OAKLAND (AP)—Opening of Huey Newton's defense against a charge of murdering a white policeman was delayed today by protracted arguments on his lawyer's motions for a directed verdict of acquittal or reduction of the charge.

Defense counsel Charles Garry, noting discovery of a blood-stained lawbook belonging to Newton, said, "You don't go about premeditated murder with a law book in your hand."

Prosecutor Lowell Jensen retorted, "That book is not capable of firing 9-millimeter and .38 caliber cartridges."

Murder Suspect Suffers Cut In Jail Cell

Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, 24-year-old motorcycle gang leader on trial for his life in a case of double murder, was badly cut in his cell at Marin County jail early Saturday, the sheriff's office said today.

Sommerhalder, accused of killing Curtis and Shirley Ackley in Santa Venetia Jan. 12, suffered a three-inch cut which took 12 stitches under his right eye, according to deputies.

Sommerhalder reportedly jumped up quickly from his cell bunk at 3:30 a.m. to get a candy bar and struck his head against an edge of the bunk, officers said.

Jailers, called to the cell by other inmates, founds the accused killer lying on the floor. They took him to Marin General Hospital, bound in leg irons and handcuffs, for treatment.

Lt. N. D. Snyder of the jail said it is not unusual to find several inmates awake at all hours of the night, since many of them sleep during the day.

North Vietnamese Attacks Slow As Allies Prepare For More

SAIGON (AP) — The enemy's lightning offensive tapered off in Tay Ninh Province along the Cambodian border today but allied commanders prepared for new and fiercer attacks.

The weekend enemy assaults on 10 allied bases and the heavy fighting in Tay Ninh City dashed hopes that the enemy command might be de-escalating the Vietnam war to try and make progress at the Paris peace talks.

Informants said Long An and Go Cong provinces just south of Saigon might be the prime targets of another major attack.

Scattered skirmishes were reported across the country today, but the enemy appeared to be avoiding major contact. Allied forces pushed through the countryside around Tay Ninh City searching for the horde of North Vietnamese regulars who slipped through an armored cordon after fierce fighting in the provincial capital yesterday and early today.

Militarily, the battle in Tay Ninh appeared to be an allied victory. More than 200 enemy troops were killed in the two days of fighting 45 miles northwest of Saigon. Allied casualty counts are not complete, but it was estimated about 20 Americans were killed and 40 were wounded.

The fact that a large enemy force penetrated a major city so close to Saigon and occupied it for nearly 30 hours, however, represents a significant propaganda victory for the enemy command. U.S. and South Vietnamese commanders had known for almost a month that Tay Ninh City was a likely target, yet they were unable to prevent the attackers from entering.

With the ground war heating up and more attacks expected, U.S. B52 bombers flew a heavy schedule of bombing raids yesterday and today, hitting at suspected troop concentrations in Tay Ninh and Hau Nghia provinces. The thunder of bombs shook buildings in downtown Saigon.

U.S. fighter-bombers flew 102 strikes over North Vietnam yesterday and reported destroying or damaging 56 supply boats, eight trucks and four bridges.

Radio Hanoi claimed today strikes over North Vietnam Sunthat North Vietnamese gunners shot down eight U.S. planes and captured an American pilot between Aug. 14 and 18.

Radio Hanoi broadcast appeals by North Vietnam's official party and army newspapers calling for "a new and more violent offensive" to "annihilate the American aggressors."

The appeals marked the 23rd anniversary of the start of the Communist-led rebellion against the French in August 1945, climaxed by France's defeat at Dien Bien Phu in 1954.

Rare August Rain Damps Bay Area

Blackouts Reported In Marin

The weather "freaked out" in Marin today and dumped as much as .54 of an inch of rain in a winter-type storm.

It was the 13th measurable August rain since 1875.

The unseasonable storm caused two major power failures and knocked out radio station KTIM's FM and AM transmitters in succession. Pacific Gas and Electric reported.

In the Dominican area of San Rafael, power was off from about 8 to 9:45 a.m. for about 250 customers, including KTIM's FM tower. Rain-soaked branches leaning heavily on wires were blamed for the failure.

About 9 a.m. wires burned out near Motor Movies on Smith Ranch Road and about 300 customers were without power for about 40 minutes. The AM transmitter for KTIM was included in that outage and power had not been restored at noon.

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Marin County cities reported no damage.

WIND FLOW

Michael Pechner, Terra Linda, weather observer for KTIM, said the storm was related to changes in the upper wind flow which caused unusual weather throughout the nation.

The storm entered California after dropping up to an inch and a half of rain on western Oregon, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Cresent City reported .35 inches of rain in six hours, Eureka .19 and Fort Bragg .04.

Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom said the soggy shower could be a fire hazard. He explained the rain washed dirt off grass and other vegetation and when it dries, it will burn more readily.

CLOUDY, COOL

Mostly cloudy skies are expected to persist through tomorrow and no immediate rise is likely in the below normal temperatures the weather bureau said.

Pechner predicted it wouldn't rain again until mid-September with other storms to follow at the the end of the first week in October Thanksgiving Day and the end of the second week in

Ike's Physicians Fight Heart Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) Army doctors reported today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's condition remains extremely critical as he and they battle against his seventh heart attack.

At the same time they conceded failure of their latest electrical treatment aimed at suppressing the persistent episodes of heart-muscle spasms which they have said present "a constant and critical hazard" to Eisenhower's survival.

They said numerous new episodes occurred overnight.

Even so the doctors reported, in a 10 a.m. medical bulletin that "the general remains alert, converses briefly, and enjoyed a small breakfast."

STAYS CALM

They said that Mamie Eisenhower, the general's wife, has remained calm during these past trying days, and has received comfort and support from her sister Mrs. Gordon Moore, and other members of the Eisenhower family.

The technique that failed to halt the 77-year-old Eisenhower's episodes of heart-muscle twitchings was an electrical pacemaker. This is a tiny device that had been threaded directly into the scarred heart of the general by way of a vein, possibly an arm vein.

The pacemaker consists of two electrode-tipped wires contained in a tube of inert material and linked with an electrical pulse-generator outside the body. It was intended to stimulate artificially a new pace for the heart beat, and thus try to forestall the abnormal rhythms in key portions of the heart's vital pumping muscles.

SHORT TIME

For a time yesterday, it appeared to be doing the job successfully—suppressing the fluttery bouts of ventricular fibrillation that can inhibit blood flow to various parts of the body, including the brain, and can even produce temporary unconsciousness.

In the morning medical bulletin, the Walter Reed General Hospital doctors reported:

"The electrical pacemaker was removed late yesterday because of its demonstrated ineffectiveness after the initial few hours."

Since last night's bulletin," they added, "numerous episodes of ventricular irregularity have occurred, most of only a few seconds duration, but two requiring electrical conversion."

This referred to another electrical treatment, in use before employment of the pacemaker was announced. The earlier method, still in use when required, consists of applying two paddle-like metal devices to the

Stanford Appoints A Chief

STANFORD (UPI)— Stanford University today named Dr. Kenneth S. Pitzer, 54, a nationally prominent chemist, as its new president.

Pitzer's selection was announced by the Board of Trustees and ended a 17-month search for a successor to Dr. J. Wallace Sterling, 62, who is retiring.

Pitzer has been president of Rice University, Houston, Tex., since 1961 and will assume his new duties Dec. 1, the university said.

He has been a member of the President's Scientific Advisory Committee since 1965, served on the council of the National Academy of Sciences from 1964-67 and is a trustee of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

FORMERLY AT U.C.

Born and educated in California, Pitzer taught at the University of California for 24 years before going to Rice. He was vice chairman of the Berkeley division of the university's academic Senate and was chosen by the faculty to serve on its Academic Freedom Committee during the loyalty oath controversy.

SIXTH PRESIDENT

He will be Stanford's sixth president. Sterling becomes lifetime chancellor effective Sept. 1.

The tall, blue-eyed Pitzer is a boating enthusiast and serves on the board of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas and the Owens-Illinois Glass Co.

He and his wife, Jean, have three children.

Israeli Riot Unit Blockade Part Of Jerusalem After Blasts, Fights

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Riot police today sealed off the Holy City's Arab quarter to prevent more rioting by Israelis angered over terrorist explosions.

Wearing steel helmets and carrying special antiriot sticks, the Israeli police blocked all roads and gates to the old sector seized from Jordan in the June 5-10, 1967 war.

Three explosions that injured nine persons and the discovery of two more explosive devices in the predominantly Israeli half of Jerusalem triggered mob violence last night.

Crowds of angry citizens stormed into the Arab quarter, burning more than 50 automobiles, smashing windows and doing what police called heavy damage in the Arab sector.

Riot police quelled the crowds, arresting 20 Israelis.

It was Jerusalem's worst civil disorder since the 1967 war and came despite Israeli efforts to bring harmony to the long divided city.

The three blasts roared in a 90 minute period in the city center starting at 9 p.m. An explosion in a drainage ditch near the Bikur Holim Hospital injured eight persons.

Another of the blasts, in Bethlehem Road near the railway station, caught the ninth victim. Two of the nine victims were seriously wounded, Israeli officials said.

72 Japanese Missing In Buses Swept Into River, 32 Known Dead

GIFU, Japan (AP) — Rescuers saw no hope today that 72 persons missing after two buses were swept into a rain swollen river by a landslide would be found alive.

Officials feared the tragedy would become the worst of its kind in history, with 104 deaths. Thus far 32 bodies have been recovered. Three persons, including the driver of one of the buses, swam to safety before the buses sank in 65 feet of water yesterday.

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato today ordered government investigators to help pinpoint responsibility for the accident.

Initial reports said most of the passengers were women and children who were on a weekend outing to the Japan Alps.

The worst bus accident recorded to date occurred in Manila, the Philippines on Jan. 6, 1967, when two buses collided killing 83 persons.

More than 1,000 police and firemen were mobilized to search the river for the bodies. Police said some bodies were discovered 18 miles downstream from the accident scene. The smashed hulk of one bus was spotted in rocks about 300 yards from the point where the buses were swept over a guardrail into the Hida River.

The buses were part of a fleet of 15 chartered by 800 residents of a housing project in Nagoya, central Japan, for a trip to the mountains.

North Koreans Kill Americans South Of Line

SEOUL (AP) — Two members of an American patrol were killed yesterday in a fire fight with North Korean intruders south of the military demarcation line inside the demilitarized zone, U.S. spokesman said.

The spokesmen said the battle erupted when soldiers of the 2nd Infantry Division spotted eight North Koreans inside the three-mile-wide DMZ.

The North Koreans fled after the exchange of gunfire. Two of them were believed to have been hit.

The two dead U.S. soldiers were not immediately identified.

Ten Americans have been killed in action this year along the 18-mile sector of the 2nd Division, according to the U.N. Command figures.

Taxi Strike May Tie Up Convention

CHICAGO (AP) — Only one-fourth of Chicago's 4,434 taxis were in operation today as the Democratic National Convention's Credentials Committee opened its first day of hearings.

More than 5,400 drivers and 600 mechanic have struck the city's two largest cab companies and prospects for a settlement before the convention opens next Monday appear dim.

Members of Local 777, Democratic Union Organizing Committee of the Seafarers International Union, walked out Saturday.

Negotiations between Yellow and Checker Cab companies, which operate 3,600 cabs, and the union broke down Friday.

The Chicago Transit Authority is faced with a strike threat by dissident drivers, a majority of whom are Negroes. They are demanding increased voice in their union. That walkout is set for Sunday, the day before the Democratic Convention convenes.

Wall Street Chief Opposes Fees Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the New York Stock Exchange testified today that if the practice of charging minimum commissions on stock trading were abandoned, as suggested by a Justice Department brief, it could destroy the present securities markets.

"While no one can predict with precision the consequences of abolishing minimum commission rates," Robert W. Haack said, "I have no doubt that the securities markets as we know them today would cease to exist."

Haack's remarks were prepared for a Securities and Exchange Commission hearing, part of an investigation to gather data on fee schedules and fee splitting in the securities industry.

The Justice Department's antitrust division said last April 1 that, on the basis of its knowledge of the operations of the New York Stock Exchange, it saw no justification for setting minimum commission charges.

In 1967, volume on the Big Board came to about 2.5 billion shares valued at about $125 billion. This netted the 650 member firms a commission income of about $1.5 billion, with 1 per cent of this, about $15.5 million, paid to the exchange.

The antitrust division said it foresaw no significant risk of "destructive" price levels or adverse affects on the operation of the exchange from competition in rates.

Haack replied that the position is based on a false assumption—"that standard competitive concepts applicable to a typical manufacturing business can be applied without modification to the securities industry."

Negotiated rates, Haack said, would result in "destructive competition" in periods of declining market volume. The concept, he said, "is a valid, recognized economic exception to free competition . . ."

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

New Red Tensions

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda complained today that authors of a pro-Soviet letter are being persecuted and baited in Czechoslovakia despite official Communist disapproval of such treatment.

The article, following resumption of press criticism of Czechoslovakia's liberal leaders last week, indicated continued Soviet dissatisfaction with the way things are going under Prague's new brand of communism.

The ltter, published in the Soviet Union on July 30, during the height of the Soviet-Czechoslovak crisis, had defended the presence of Soviet troops in Czechoslovakia. It said the signers were "frozen with apprehension for our motherland" and complained that Prague's uncensored press had created an "extremely bitter attitude towards the U.S.S.R." at the time.

Signed by 99 of some 4,000 workers at the "Auto-Praha" factory in a Prague suburb, the letter was regarded at the time as possible grounds for eventual Soviet intervention in Czechoslovakia.

Bombs In Brazil

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Three bombs exploded in different sections of this city early today, smashing windows and causing other damage.

One explosion occurred in the financial district, another near a station of the security police and the third in the Santana business district.

Police said they have detained a man and a woman for questioning.

They also said the bombings, like others in recent months, probably were the work of a terrorist group with Communists affiliation.

The 80-year-old British World War II commander recently was ill with what was described as a "severe chill."

View On Pueblo

SEOUL (AP) — The U.S.S. Pueblo would be back in American hands today if prompt military action had been taken after it was seized by North Korea, President Chung-hee Park of South Korea was quoted as saying in an interview published today.

The Pacific edition of Stars and Stripes, a newspaper for U.S. servicemen, reported Park as telling an interviewer:

"Had the U.S. military taken instant action at the time of the Pueblo seizure, the ship and its crew, I am sure, would have been returned by now."

The South Korean president did not elaborate on what military action he felt the United States should have taken.

Girl, 5, Receives Heart Transplant

HOUSTON (UPI)—Five-year-old Maria Giannaris, into whose chest was transplanted Sunday the heart of an 11-year-old boy, was awake today and talked with her parents.

A spokesman for St. Luke's Hospital, where Dr. Denton A. Cooley and his heart transplant team performed the operation, said Maria's condition was good and that she seemed coherent in talking with her parents.

It was the first transplant involving a child for Cooley and his team. The world's only other child recipient died less than seven hours after its operation last winter in Brooklyn.

Maria of Hagerstown, Md., yesterday received the heart of 11-year-old James Dudley Herron II, son of James Dudley Herron, a Purdue University professor, in a 45-minute operation.

A hospital spokesman said the operation was routine and no change of procedure was made because of the child's age.

The Herron boy suffered spontaneous brain damage Aug. 16, followed by a respiratory and cardiac arrest. He was in a coma until death at 5 a.m. Sunday.

Pope's Heart Gets Check Before Journey To Bogota

By PATRICK O'KEEFE

VATICAN CITY (AP) — With doctors certifying his good health, 70-year-old Pope Paul VI prepared today for his longest journey since he became pontiff in June 1963.

At dawn Thursday, the Pope will board a plane for a 12-hour flight to Bogota, the Colombian capital situated 8,860 feet high in the Eastern Andes Mountains.

The pontiff will attend the 39th international Eucharistic Congress being held in Bogota, ablaze with decorations for the historic event. He journeyed to the last congress in Bombay, India in December 1964.

The Pope said he looked forward to meeting the Colombian poor. He is expected to talk with the country's peasants Friday morning, the day after he arrives in Bogota for the sixth trip outside Italy during his reign.

It has been one year since the pontiff fell ill because of a prostate condition. He underwent surgery last Nov. 8 for removal of an inflamed prostate and did not resume his normal activities until Dec. 8. As recently as Easter, he still looked tired, but in the past few weeks he has seemed fit and vigorous.

In July leftist newspapers hinted that the pontiff was still not well enough to endure the trip to Bogota. Papal doctors denied the stories, saying the Pope's health was fine.

Pope Paul, his aides and many journalists accompanying him on the three-day trip, have undergone a special physical examination, with emphasis on the heart, because of Bogota's high altitude.

As far as is known however the Pope has never had trouble with his heart.

In Bogota, a special envoy of the Pope opened the congress yesterday with a plea for world social and economic justice.

Coast Guard Says Don't Leave Towing To Us

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The Coast Guard has gently urged pleasure boaters to rely on commercial firms, not the Coast Guard or its auxiliary, for routine towing.

A spokesman at the 12th District office here observed — gently, of course — that the service is engaged in lifesaving, not towing.

The delicate reminder came in the wake of a bizarre request from the owner of a houseboat that broke down in the Sacramento River recently. When a Coast Guard Auxiliary boat responded to his call, the owner asked his rescuers to return in three days and tow him.

He was tossing a party, he explained, and his guests didn't want to be disturbed at the moment.

The party is over, the Coast Guard said today. Gently.

Corte Madera To Set Rate

The Corte Madera Town Council is expected to set a 1968-69 tax rate of 95 cents per $100 assessed valuation at its 7:30 p.m. meeting today at town hall.

The council on June 17 adopted a budget of $765,532 and indicated then that the property tax rate would probably be lowered from the previous rate of 99 cents.

Also scheduled is setting of a public hearing for an appeal by Blumenfeld Theaters for permission to have a ratio of one parking space for each six seats in a proposed theater at 41 Tamal Vista Boulevard. Requirement is one space for each four seats.

TRIAL

The 26-year-old Black Panther leader has pleaded innocent to charges of first degree murder of a white Oakland policeman, John Frey, last Oct. 28, and to the attempted murder of another officer, Herbert Heanes, in the same bloody shootout.

A third charge, of kidnaping a nearby motorist, Del Ross, was expected to be dropped on a motion by the defense. The prosecution conceded there is no basis now for the kidnaping charge since Ross said he could not remember the details he had told the grand jury that indicted Newton.

Prosecutor Lowell Jensen has presented witnesses who placed Newton at the scene, and one has said he saw him start the shooting with a gun in his hand. Jensen claims Newton killed Frey with Frey's own service revolver after his own gun jammed.

Defense attorney Charles Garry claims Newton had no gun, and that Frey and Heanes shot each other in the confusion.

Garry said last week he expects to present witnesses for five days, with Newton himself taking the stand at the last as the most important defense witness.

If Garry can adhere to this schedule, Newton should be on the stand next Monday at which time Panther chairman Bobby Seale has said he expects the biggest "Free Huey" rally yet to be held outside the Alameda County Courthouse.

Before Superior Court Judge Monroe Friedman recessed the trial for the weekend last Thursday, Garry showed reporters a certificate from Secretary of State attesting that Huey P. Newton was the nominee of the Peace and Freedom Party for the 7th Congressional District.

Smiling and confident, Garry told newsmen he expected to see Huey campaigning in person within 10 days.

House In Flames Second Time

A Fairfax man who had moved next door with his neighbors because the wiring in his house was damaged in an Aug. 6 fire awoke yesterday to find his home in flames.

The main floor of Charles Gordon's home at 26 Azalea Road was totally destroyed, firemen said. The lower floor was not as badly damaged.

By the time firemen responded to a call from neighbors at 5:55 a.m. yesterday morning, the house was engulfed in flames.

Cause of the fire is under investigation. No estimate of damages was made by the Fairfax Fire Department.

Mill Valley Will Study Park Policy

A new policy for the use of city parks and public buildings will be discussed by the Mill Valley City Council at 8 p.m. today in city hall. The new policy has been recommended to the council by the parks and recreation commission.

Also scheduled is a report on dogs by Hal Soule, assistant to the city manager, discussion of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission's preliminary bay plan and introduction of an ordinance limiting the terms of planning commissioners and members of the architectural advisory committee to three years.

Guns Stolen

Six guns valued at $320 were stolen from 26 Woodward Avenue, Sausalito police said today. The owners, Clinton P. Duffy and Richard W. Rodgers, said the weapons disappeared between Friday and Saturday mornings.

Council To Get List Of Novato Street Projects

A list of street improvements under the proposed $3 million bond issue in the November general election will be given the Novato City Council at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community House.

Acting Public Works Director Clifford Temps will present to the council the list of streets which he thinks should be on the bond issue for reconstruction or overlay.

The council will hear a report on the volunteer grading work on the Pioneer Memorial Park organized by the Novato Civic Foundation. The council has budgeted $30,000 for the park in the current budget. It will determine what more will be done to the park this year.

The council will also hear a feasibility study on the city's purchase of the San Marin Club for recreation facilities, and set a tax rate for the present budget based on assessed valuation.

victory for the Humphrey side of the delegate seating dispute.

Hughes said the proposed bar to voting by challenged delegates would have meant "the destruction of the convention."

The seating of nearly one-fifth of the 5,611 convention delegates and alternates has been challenged in 19 contests involving 26 states.

Humphrey spokesmen said the McCarthy forces were supporting challenges against about 795 delegates. Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota said the McCarthy strategy apparently was to put challenged delegates under a cloud, deny them the right to vote, and thus cut sharply into Humphrey's commanding delegate lead.

Joseph P. Whelton of New Hampshire proposed what he called a fair play amendment to disenfranchise contested delegates.

Hughes said he ruled that "out of order if we were to have a convention."

general's bare chest, and inducing a kind of countershock to overcome episodic disturbances in the heart's electricity.

But this method can only overcome existing bouts, not forestall their occurrence.

The doctors reported in answer to newsmen's questions that President Johnson and Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, were among individuals "in all walks of life" who have sent messages of support to the stricken five-star general.

Eisenhower's latest heart attack, the fourth in a series that began April 29, occurred last Friday. He has had seven attacks since Sept. 24, 1955.

Two Guilty Pleas In Court Case

Raymond McFarland of San Anselmo and John William Polman of San Rafael pleaded guilty Friday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of malicious mischief. Probation report and judgment were set for 9:30 a.m. Sept. 13.

McFarland and Polman were originally charged with burgling the Doug Dicker auto agency in Corte Madera June 14.

CUMMINS

Both are in use around the world.

At the time of his death, Cummins had just completed development of a revolutionary new engine which he termed "my most exciting idea."

In an interview with the Independent-Journal last year, Cummins explained the new design eliminated almost all moving parts and sharply reduced emissions that contribute to smog.

Cummins was a member of the Society of Automotive Engineeers, Rotary International, Masonic Lodge, First Christian Church of Palo Alto and the Cabinet Table of San Francisco.

In 1967, he published his memoirs under the title, "My Days with the Diesel."

Cummins' wife, Estella Feldmann Cummins, died eight months ago.

He is survived by four sons, Brainard L. Cummins of Columbus, Ind., Joseph W. Cummins of Oakville, Napa County, George T. Cummins of Auburn, Wash., and C. Lyle Cummins Jr. of Wilbraham, Mass.; and two daughters, Mrs. Ellis L. Walker of Menlo Park and Beatrice M. Cummins of El Cerrito.

He also is survived by two brothers, Donovan J. and Deloss C. Cummins, both of Scotsboro, Ala.; two sisters, Mrs. Nell Carroll of Plainsville, Ind., and Mrs. Irene Le Blanc of La Jolla, Orange County; 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Mill Valley Community Church. Funeral and burial will be in Columbus, Ind. Local arrangements are by Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

His family asked that memorial contributions go to donors' favorite charities.

December.

The Chevy Chase area of Larkspur reported the heaviest rain with .54 of an inch. It was well below the last recorded high of .80 in 1965.

The lightest rain was at Hamilton Air Force Base were .02 of an inch was reported.

Other points and totals included: Mill Valley, Bolinas and Tamalpais Valley, .28; Sausalito, .24; San Rafael, .22; Woodacre, .21; San Anselmo, .08 and Novato, .03.

Youth Arrested For Trespassing With Pamphlets

A 17-year-old San Anselmo youth was booked in Juvenile Hall Saturday on a citizen's arrest for trespassing while passing out Black Panther rally circulars, police reported today.

Officers said William L. Daniels, manager of United Market at 100 Red Hill Avenue, said the youth was passing out the circulars and bothering store customers outside the store about 2:35 p.m. Saturday.

Daniels said the youth three times refused to leave at Daniels request. He was released from the hall into custody of his father pending further proceedings.

Police said the circulars gave notice of a rally Thursday, at Marin City on behalf of Huey P. Newton, on trial in Oakland for murder of an Oakland police officer.

Shots Wound Inmate, Officer

A Death Row inmate and a San Quentin officer were wounded slightly yesterday when two warning shots were fired to break up a fist fight between two inmates over what television show to watch.

The second shot hit the metal frame of a punching bag in the Death Row exercise area and fragmented, reported A.R. Jacobs, associate warden of custody.

One fragment struck the forehead of inmate Jerry Lee Goodridge, 26, of Los Angeles County, a bystander, and another scratched the right arm of Sgt. Herman R. Floyd.

The fight broke out at 10:35 a.m. between Death Row inmates Clarence Lee McDowell, 24, sentenced from Santa Clara County, and Charles Gardner, 19, sentenced from Alameda County, during the recreation period, Jacobs reported.

militarized zone, if the United States would do the same. The report said the proposal would be made by Le Duc Tho, a member of the North Vietnamese Communist party Politburo, who returned to Paris last week after a trip to Hanoi.

Le said: "I can tell you that I have heard nothing like that from Le Duc Tho."

He added that the United States was the aggressor in Vietnam and that it was up to the United States to halt its aggression and respect the Geneva agreements on Vietnam.

A reporter recalled Le's statements last week blasting Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon and the Democratic administration headed by President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

The report said there had been no comment on Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, a candidate for the Democratic nomination, and wondered if this might mean the North Vietnamese would be more favorable to Sen. McCarthy.

Le replied: "We have no information on this and can make no comment."

Le sidestepped a question which might have drawn out whether the North Vietnamese acknowledge that their troops are fighting in the South. He said: "The Vietnamese people is one" and each one of them "has the right and duty to carry on the fight for safeguarding the country."

Use Permit Rules Up For Hearing

A review and public hearing on possible amendments to the use permit ordinance is scheduled for the 8 p.m. meeting today by the San Anselmo Planning Commission.

To be considered is possible change of zoning requirements for gas stations and places serving alcoholic beverages. Application of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and McCormick-McDill Co. for permission to split a lot at San Anselmo and Belle avenues into two parcels also will be considered.

OBITUARIES

Attorney Burbank Dies At 52

Funeral will be held tomorrow in Oakland for A. Lawrence Burbank, former Marin lawyer and resident who died Saturday at an Oakland hospital of cancer. He was 52.

At the time of his illness Burbank was an assistant United States attorney in San Francisco. He was appointed to that post in 1958, after practicing law in San Rafael and San Anselmo.

His last residence was in Piedmont. He had lived in San Anselmo, where he was Cubmaster of Cub Scout Pack 37.

A native of Newton, Mass., Burbank served in the Navy during World War II as a flying instructor. He was graduated from Hobart College in Geneva, N. Y., in 1948 and from Harvard Law School in 1951.

Burbank was a member of the American, Massachusetts, California and Marin County bar associations. In the U. S. attorney's office in San Francisco, he was chief of the Lands and Natural Resources Division.

He is survived by his wife, Mary Burbank, and by six children, Donald, Richard, Annette, Arthur Jr., Matthew and Samuel Burbank, all of Piedmont.

Funeral will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Oakland.

LOIS CURTIN

Lois Lang Curtin, 41, former secretary to Gen. Nathan Twining and active member of the Loma Verde Homeowners Association, died yesterday at her home at 427 Alameda De La Loma, Novato, after a long illness.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., she had worked as a secretary in Washington D. C. for six years. And was secretary to General Twining when he was chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

While in the capital, she met her husband then on active duty there.

She lived in California for the past nine years, five of them in Novato.

She was a member of the Loma Verde Homeowners Association where she was on the board of directors for three years, the corresponding secretary for three years, and for two years wrote the association's newsletter. She taught Catholic catechism at Our Lady of Loretto Church and was a member of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. Last year she organized the preschool program for the Loma Verde community.

She is survived by her husband, Leo J. Curtin; two sons, Kevin and Brian, and a daughter, Lynne, all of the home; her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Lang; and two sisters, Mrs. Marion Huerbin and Mrs. Esther Lutz, all of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato. Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

HOWARD GEARON

Private services were held Saturday for Howard J. Gearon, 87, of 28 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Gearon, a retired Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. wire chief, died Friday at a local convalescent hospital. He had been employed by the utility company for 47 years.

A native of San Francisco, he had been a resident of Marin since 1943. He was a member of the Ladd Chapter of Telephone Pioneers.

Surviving are his wife, Florence C., of the home, a son, John H. Gearon, Oakland, a granddaughter and a great-granddaughter.

Entombment was private.

McCarthy Party Will Feature An Art Auction

About two dozen Marin artists have donated their works for an auction to be held Sunday at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley, to benefit the presidential campaign of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

The Democratic National Convention will open in Chicago the next day.

Among the artists donating works to the auction, according to McCarthy worker Alice Yarish, are Maggie Rosen, Leah Schwartz, Richard and Ann O'Hanlon, Loi Wing, Maxine Fiaccadori, Jeanne Glaser, Bea Bernardi, Eleanor Bender, William Kirsch, Eric Norstad, Mary and Fred Decker, Serge Trubach, Phoebe Deignan, Nancy Kenealy and Daryl Ralston.

Also donating works are Inez Storer, Jean Varda, Dixon Farley, Bruce Jewell, Enid Foster, Donald Dudley, Clement Hurd, Cynthia Bettini and Robert Rich.

Russia Outlines Own Satellite Net Plans

VIENNA (AP) — Russia's No. 1 communications official declared today the Soviet Union intends to push forward with its "Intersputnik" satellite communications network. But he hinted at the possibility that Russia might join the existing International Telecommunications Satellite consortium — Intelsat — if that body changed its voting policy to eliminate dominance by the United States.

It appeared, however, that the Russians would not become a member of Intelsat unless it adopted the same one-nation, one-vote policy proposed by Intersputnik's eighth sponsoring Communist nations.

Dr. Vladimir Minashin, chief of cosmic communications for the Soviet Telecommunications Department, presented first details of the Russian-backed communications system during a panel discussion and a news conference at the United Nations Conference on Peaceful Uses of Outer Space. The global network was proposed last week in a draft agreement presented to the United Nations in New York and to delegates of 74 nations assembled in Vienna.

Minashin emphasized that Intersputnik is not just a move which the eight nations hoped would force a change in Intelsat voting rules, nor is it intended as a purely regional system. Many delegates here have speculated on both motives.

"It is," he said, "an international satellite communications system based on democratic principles . . . to be used without discrimination . . . for the mutual benefit of all parties."

He said each Intersputnik member would have equal voting power and criticized the Intelsat policy in which voting power is according to investment, with the United States having a 51 per cent interest.

Greek Exile Sounds Plea For Liberty

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Former Greek government minister Andreas Papandreou appealed today to the world's democracies to aid "our noble fight" to liberate Greece from its military regime.

Papandreou is a voluntary exile from his country and has accepted a position as an economics teacher at Stockholm University. He is chairman of the Panhellenic Liberation Movement, set up to coordinate anti regime forces outside and inside Greece.

He said the recent assassination attempt on Greek Premier George Papandopoulos was "the voice of the Greek nationa, whether one approves or not."

"The junta has tried to limit the attention of the world to the assassination attempt," said Papandreou, "but it has neglected to mention the many bombings that have occurred all over Athens — part of our broad resistance effort."

Papandreou issued what he called "one last warning:"

"The Greek people will never accept the bondage of a totalitarian constitution, which the colonels intend to impose on the Greek nation through a mockery of democratic procedures on Sept. 29, 1968. The West ought to have enough wisdom to comprehend that a constitution that denies the majority of the Greek people the right to be represented in government can only lead to civil war."

Arson, Bomb Threat Hit At San Francisco Church

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Glide United Methodist Church experienced an arson attack and a bomb threat during the weekend, but an official said such incidents are "not unusual."

The Rev. Louis Durham, executive director of the Glide Foundation, said threats have previously been directed both against the church and its minister, the Rev. A. Cecil Williams.

Church officials said the arsonist and bomb threat caller apparently were the same individual, probably someone upset by two meetings held at the church within the past week.

One meeting dealt with the Delano grape strike and the other with alleged police harassment of prostitutes in the San Francisco Tenderloin District.

The arsonist struck late Saturday, but the fire was confined to a hall at a side entrance to the sanctuary and damage was held to about $5,000. Police said they found empty gasoline containers at the scene.

The bomb threat occurred during the Sunday worship service, but the 500 worshippers in the sanctuary were not evacuated. A spokesman said the caller threatened to "blow the church off its foundation."

Drivers Warned Of Highway Striping Work

Southbound motorists on the Waldo Grade were cautioned today by the Division of Highways to be especially cautious this week while workmen restripe the highway between Spencer Avenue and the Golden Gate Bridge.

The restriping is the final work to be done on the $261,342 project to add a fourth lane on the downhill bridge approach.

Traffic will be shifted from lane to lane during the work, and all four lanes should be open by Friday, the division said.

Resident engineer Alfred J. Bouscal said last Tuesday that the additional lane would not be used until a changeable message unit sign is installed, but today reported temporary signs would be installed.

A MODERN BANK IS MORE THAN A BUILDING

Our idea is to build banks that fit your needs. We allow ample teller windows to speed up your banking. These ingredients are packaged in contemporary buildings that enhance the community, and are staffed by courteous, helpful people. We'd like to demonstrate what a "modern" bank with hometown hospitality can do for you.

For instance, it's time to think about those back-to-school expenses. Possibly you would want to arrange a loan -- or discuss our Master Charge Credit Card plan. Whatever your banking needs, we think you'll find our officers and staff most helpful.

May we serve you?

City's Suicide Lure Dissected By Expert

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—This city is the suicide capital of the country principally because of alcoholism and social geography, suggests a University of California professor.

Dr. Richard H. Seiden, writing in the Bulletin of Suicidology, put out by the National Institutes of Mental Health, analyzes six theories as to why the city's suicide rate has remained for a decade twice as high as that of the state and almost three times the national average.

These he calls "The End of the Trail," "The Bridges," "The Pleasure Dome," "The Coroner's Office," "Demographic Characteristics" and "Social Geography."

Seiden, acting director of the behavioral sciences division of UC's School of Public Health, is unimpressed with the "end of the trail" theory — that the problem is due to an influx of suicidal newcomers.

Over a seven-year period, he says, 1,567 of 1,611 suicides were commited by residents of the city.

And jumps from the Golden Gate Bridge represent only 5 per cent of the total. "They do not even account for a majority of suicides by jumping," he says.

The largest cause—at 33 per cent—is poisoning, says Seiden.

A substantial theory, he says is "ethyl alcohol."

San Francisco has a high rate of alcoholism, and Sacramento, which ranks second in alcoholism, also ranks second in suicide rates. Alcohol, he pointed out, overcomes inhibitions, reduces judgment and may be used with barbituates as a vehicle toward suicide.

Another legitimate theory, Seiden says, is that more valid case-finding procedures by the coroner's office pinpoints many suicides that otherwise might be attributed to other causes of death.

The city's population and geographic characteristics are definitely related to suicides, he said. The city is small in area —only 45 square miles.

The median age is higher by eight years that the national average and the proportion of unmarried men and women is 35 per cent higher than the national average.

It long has been known, he said, that residential areas closest to the business center have the most suicides and areas farthest from the city center have the lowest rates.

City dwellers, he says, tend to be older, to contain a greater proportion of the divorced, widowed and separated, and even among the married, contain fewer families with children-situations directly related to the frequency of suicides.

Wounded Woman In Poor Condition

A San Rafael woman, accidentally shot in the midsection Thursday night, was reported in poor condition at Marin General Hospital today.

Mrs. Martha E. Hunt, 56, of 3 Jones Place, was wounded by a blast from a shotgun being cleaned by her grandson, Jeffrey Allen, 13.

Congressmen Press Grape Truce Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eleven congressmen have interceded in the California grape pickers controversy urging the Justice Department to end what they called the use of alien strikebreakers.

The lawmakers demanded yesterday that the department revise alien-commuter regulations.

The congressmen said in a letter to Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark: "The growing boycott of California grapes has serious implications for that state which will be removed, we believe, only when the Justice Department gives proper and long overdue attention to this problem.

Strikers and sympathizers have promoted the boycott, which has spread to New York City and other cities.

"Harvesting of the California grapes crops is now entering its final and most important stage," the letter said. "Further delay in ending the use of alien strikebreakers works only to the benefit of the farm owners."

"When the joint Labor-Justice task force was named to study the problem, it was our understanding that both departments undertook a commitment to a prompt and complete effort to eliminate abuses which allowed alien workers to cross the border into certified labor disputes," the congressman continued.

"Yet the Labor Department members of the task force issue their own report because of irreconcilable differences with your representatives."

Among other things, the letter asked whether those differences had been resolved.

Meeting Cancelled

The Marin City Target Area Board has cancelled its meeting tonight because reports from the program and personnel committee have not been completed. No date has been set for the next meeting.

Clean Poultry Bill Signed By Johnson

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson signed today a federal poultry inspection act which he said would "insure that dirty plants will have to clean up or close down."

The new law gives the states two years in which to impose poultry inspection systems equal to federal standards. Should they fail in this, federal inspection would be imposed.

Johnson, who was keeping informed through his own medical staff on former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's condition, also signed legislative amendments to the Farmers Home Administration Act.

A principal feature of the changes would be to improve credit assistance for farm families.

Johnson and about 100 others attended a private prayer service for Eisenhower in the airplane hangar at the ranch Sunday afternoon. Present were Secret Service agents, military personnel, ranch employees and neighbors.

The service was conducted by pastors of two nearby churches.

Earlier, the President and his miniskirted daughter, Luci Nugent, attended two church services and heard prayers for both himself and Eisenhower.

Trial Beginning For Youths Accused Of Ukiah Murder

SAN JOSE (UPI) — The long wait is over for two "friendless" farm youths accused of a three-state crime spree involving three murders and a vicious assault.

Leonard Maine and Thomas Braun, both 20 and from Ritzville, Wash., faced trial today in connection with the fatal shooting of a Ukiah teen-ager and an attack which left his girl friend paralyzed.

They are also accused of killing a Washington woman and an Oregon salesman on a tour down the coast last August.

The case was moved from Ukiah to San Jose when the California Supreme Court ruled that Maine and Braun could not get a fair trial in Ukiah, where the defendants are friendless and the victims prominent."

The slain youth was Timothy Luce, 17, the son of Lake County Dist. Atty. David Luce. His girl friend, Susan Bartolomei, 18, still lies motionles in a hospital bed after being kidnaped, assaulted and shot five times.

The suspects were arrested Aug. 22, 1967, in Tuolomne County, where Miss Bartolomei was left for dead beside a road. The body of Luce had been found in a vineyard near Ukiah a short time before.

Before lapsing into unconsciousness, Miss Bartolomei told her rescuers she and young Luce were returning from Hopland when their car broke down. She said they were picked up by two youths, whom she described. Her descriptions led to the arrests of the suspects.

Plane Passengers Killed In Crash In Mediterrean

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — An Egyptian airliner fell into the Mediterranean Sea between Cyprus and Egypt yesterday, killing all 41 persons on board.

The Soviet built Antonov 24 was on a flight from Cairo to Damascus when the Nicosia air traffic control center reported losing contact.

British Royal Air Force planes began a search and five hours later spotted wreckage and bodies about 120 miles south of Cyprus.

United Arab Airlines reported in Cairo that the plane carried 34 passengers, all from the Middle East and Africa, and a crew of seven.

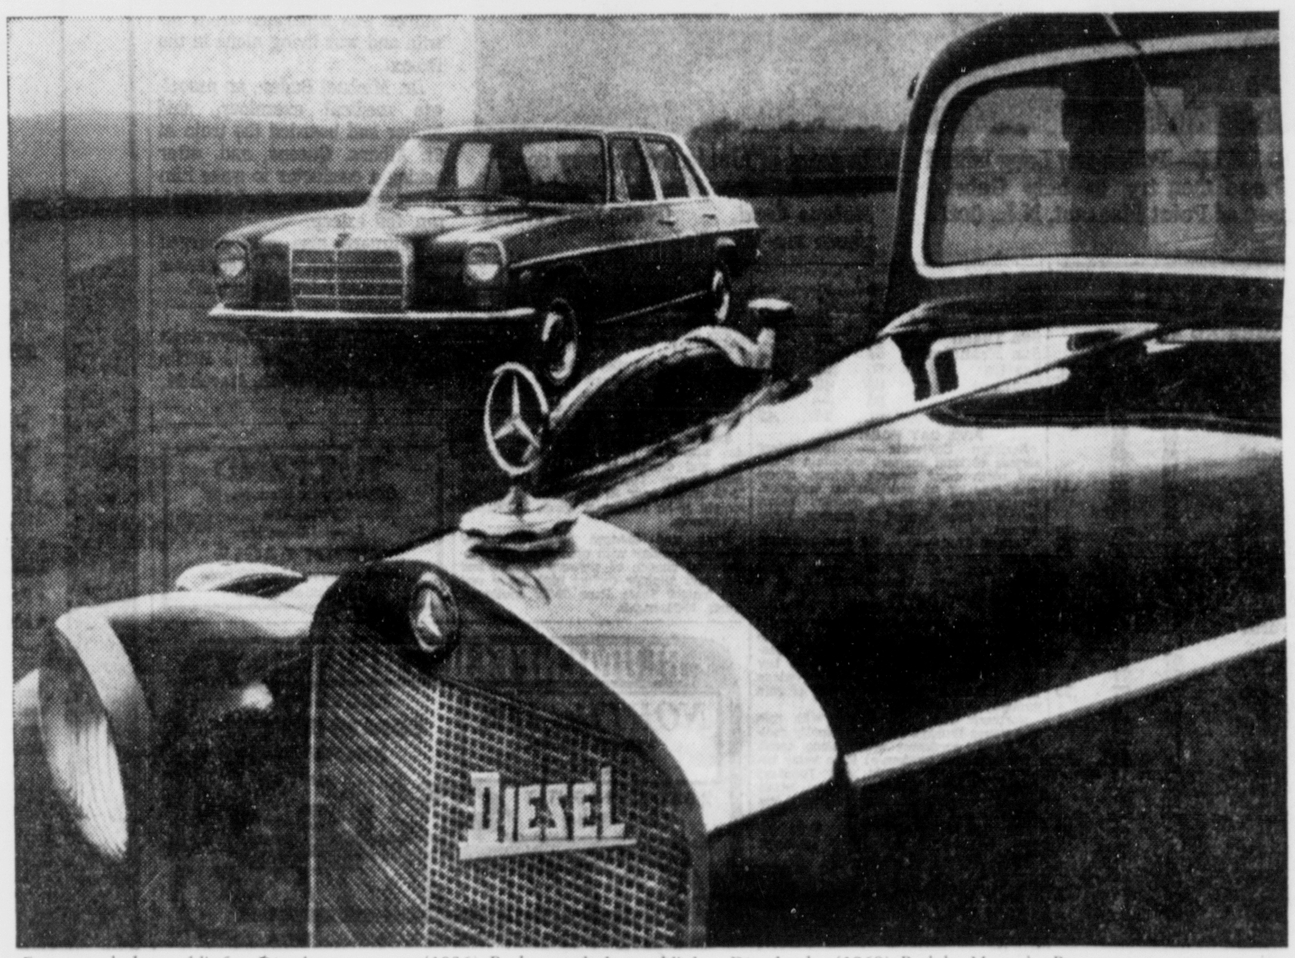
Informed sources said contact with the twin engine turboprop plane was lost without explanation.

One RAF pilot said wreckage was spread over an area about a mile long and 400 yards wide.

Project Low Bid

Low bid on a project to improve banking on two curves on the southbound side of Highway 101 about 2.8 miles north of Novato was $62,263 from the Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael, the California Division of Highways has announced.

The new Mercedes-Benz 220 Diesel: so "over-engineered" you may still be driving it in 1988.



Foreground: the world's first Diesel passenger car (1936). Background: the world's best Diesel sedan (1968). Both by Mercedes-Benz.

Some Mercedes-Benz Diesels just won't quit. In the 32 years since Mercedes-Benz invented the Diesel-powered passenger car, over 500,000 Diesels have been made, and 87% are still running! One owner in Stockholm recently started his second million miles.

The newest Mercedes-Benz Diesel is the 220 (so-called because its engine displaces 2.2 liters). It costs $4,580,* and from the million-dollar way it looks and rides, many people believe it should be classified as a luxury car.

An unconventional economy car

Mercedes-Benz says the 220 Diesel is an economy car. Yes, an economy car, because it could save you more money in the long run (say, 100,000 miles or more) than the flimsiest little economy car you could buy.

The 220 Diesel is so economical it doesn't even use gasoline. It sips inexpensive Diesel fuel at a miserly rate, yet has enough power to cruise at 80 (where the law allows). This amazing power plant does away with carburetors, spark plugs, and other paraphernalia of the conventional gasoline engine.

But the engine is not the only unconventional thing about the new Mercedes-Benz 220 Diesel. The whole car is "over-engineered." That's the way one critic put it. He was right. By conventional standards, it is built to far more exacting standards than ordinary motor cars.

What else "over-engineering" can mean to you

The remarkable longevity of the Diesel engine is one good example of how "over-engineering" works for the man who buys a Mercedes-Benz. But by no means does it tell the whole story. Here are some more examples:

A superior braking system

Many ordinary cars still use old-fashioned drum brakes.

Today's 180-mph Grand Prix racing cars use disc brakes. So does the Mercedes-Benz 220 Diesel. And not just on the front wheels, but on every wheel. Drum brakes are cheaper, but tests prove that disc brakes provide the most precise braking possible—at any speed. So Mercedes-Benz engineers insist on 4-wheel disc brakes as standard equipment. With 421.1 square inches of braking area, it's virtually impossible to outrun the 220 Diesel's brakes.

10,000 body welds

Most conventional cars have a separate body and chassis, held together with bolts. After a while, the bolts can work loose. On a washboard road, the rattles can be deafening.

Mercedes-Benz eliminated the body bolts. In their place are over 10,000 individual welds. Result: a structure of immense strength and rigidity. After 50,000 miles or so, you'll wonder if your 220 Diesel will ever rattle.

A patented suspension

Conventional sedans usually have a little device called an "anti-sway bar" nestled in the front suspension. It prevents the car from leaning on hard turns. Without it, the car would wallow (or the springs would have to be made so stiff that the ride would be ruined).

Mercedes-Benz engineers took this idea one step further. They added a second anti-sway bar at the rear, part of the 220 Diesel's new—and patented—independent rear suspension. This allowed the Mercedes-Benz engineers to make the rear springs softer, too. Result: a vastly superior ride, but still no mush, sway or wallow—even in hairpin turns.

"Fatigue-proof" seats

Take a day-long trip in some cars and you'll wind up feeling like a damp washrag.

The Mercedes-Benz 220 Diesel is engineered as much for human comfort as it is for mechanical efficiency. Orthopedic physicians were consulted in the design of the 220 Diesel's seats so you'll have proper support on cross-country tours as well as short hops to the supermarket. When you first slip into one of the 220 Diesel's carefully contoured seats, it may seem firm, but once you get used to it, you'll never settle for "marshmallow" seats again. Mercedes-Benz engineers have respect for your backbone.

14 gasoline-powered models from $25,785* to $4,446*

The legend of Mercedes-Benz Diesels has grown to Brobdingnagian proportions. There are some people who firmly believe Mercedes-Benz makes nothing but Diesels. Not true. In fact, Mercedes-Benz builds a wide range of gasoline-powered models, from the awesome 600 to the thrifty 220 (a car very much like the 220 Diesel, but with a regular gasoline engine—for people who are diffident about the virtues of the Diesel engine). They include:

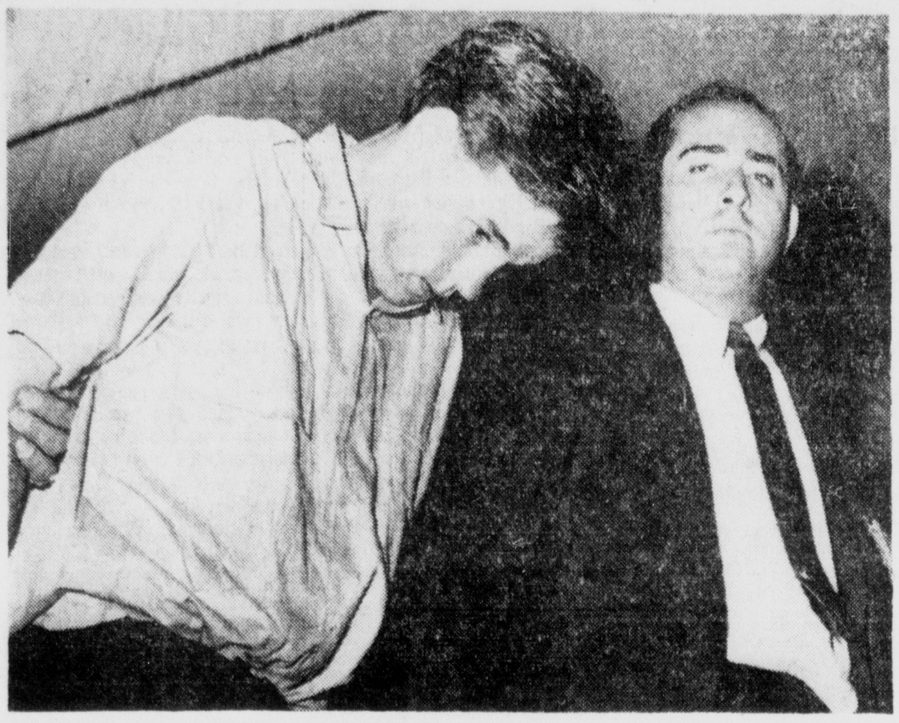
Why Are You A Poor Talker?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in social and business advancement and works like magic to give you poise, self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances there are ways to make a good impression every time you talk.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a new booklet, "Adventures in Conversation," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Send your name, address, and zip code to: Conversation, 835 Diversey Pkwy., Dept. 310-418, Chicago, Ill. 60614. A postcard will do.



SUSPECTED SNIPER — With his head bowed, suspect John Whitmore, 16, is escorted by a detective to a New York police station where the youth was charged with the slaying of a railroad passenger and wounding of another passenger. Police said a bullet from a high power sawed-off rifle smashed through the side of the aluminum coach, striking both men. (UPI Telephoto)

Rail Passenger Killed By Whim Sniper

NEW YORK (AP) — A sniper fired into a moving Long Island Railroad train early yesterday killing one passenger and wounding another with a single shot.

Within a half-hour after the predawn shooting police picked up 16-year-old John Whitmore, of Long Island City, Queens. The youth was quoted as saying he had fired at three LIRR trains "just for the whim of it." He was charged with homicide.

Police said the fatal shot, from a .306-caliber sawed-off rifle, was fired from a sandy embankment near a railroad trestle. The bullet hit Vincent Maher in the neck and Gabriel Jansen in the elbow.

DEAD

After the shooting the train sped on to Pennsylvania Station in Manhattan. Maher, 31, an elevator operator and father of three children, was dead when the train pulled in.

Jansen, 48, who had worked overtime at a dredging job at Jones Beach the night before, was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

He said he was dozing when the shot was fired. "I woke up to a big bang," he said. "I thought it was someone playing a joke." Jansen lives in Point Pleasant, N.J.

STUDENT

Whitmore, a vocational school student, wore a light blue shirt with a civil defense patch on one shoulder and dark blue trousers when arrested. Friends said he was interested in firemen and liked to dress up like them.

Whitmore was picked up near the scene of the shooting.

Maher's body was identified by his sister, Mrs. Rosemary Holland of the Bronx. She said Maher was separated from his wife and was living alone in the Bronx.

Dr. Michael Baden, an associate medical examiner, said Maher had boarded the train at St. Albans, Queens, and, after asking a conductor to wake him when the train reached Manhattan, fell asleep.

Whitmore also was charged with possession of a dangerous weapon and felonious assault.

Discovery of the tuberculosis germ was announced in Berlin by Prof. Robert Koch, March 24, 1882.

Woman In Rags Found To Be Worth Fortune

OAKLAND (AP) — For more than five years a raggedly-dressed, elderly woman appeared each week at the rummage store run by Mrs. Gladys Motta, bringing with her a paper shopping bag filled with empty bottles, patches of used cloth and other bric-a-brac.

"You give me a penny a bottle," Mrs. Ursula Branch would tell the owner.

Mrs. Motta said that when she tried to give the woman extra money for food she would become upset.

Last week Mrs. Branch died at Highland County Hospital at the age of 75. In her small room, coroner's officers found a sealed envelope addressed to Mrs. Motta.

The letter gave instructions for Mrs. Branch's funeral and named Mrs. Motta as executrix of her estate.

Mrs. Motta remembered a conversation in which the woman said if something should happen she should look under a red box on a shelf.

A safe deposit box key was under the box and after securing a writ, Mrs. Motta and her husband, Frank, went to the bank and opened the box.

"We were stunned," she said Saturday. The box contained $70,000 in cash — including many $100 bills, and passbooks for saving accounts totaling more than $60,000, Mrs. Motta said.

Papers showed Mrs. Branch was born Ursula Cotta Shunk in West Virginia on July 4, 1893 and was graduated in 1916 from West Virginia Teachers College. Her late husband, David, had been a Spanish-American War Veteran.

No will has been found, nor are there any known survivors.

Summer College Of Marin Musical To Be Telecast

"It Can't Happen Here But It Is," the College of Marin drama department's summer production, has been selected by National Educational Television for a one-hour color special.

The audio portions of the show have been taped and will be heard on San Francisco radio station KABL-AM and FM on Sept. 15 from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. and from 10 to 11 p.m.

Fire Unit Discusses Hydrant System

The Tamalpais Fire Protection District Board Friday night discussed expansion of its hydrant system, but no action was taken, reported Chairman John F. O'Conner.

Directors also considered changing the meeting dates, now the first and third Thursdays, to Mondays, he said. Commissioner Byron O. Boulware, who was ill, was absent.

HYDRANT ART

Charles Brink III of Worcester, Mass., surveys his artistic adventure. He told Judge Walter Allen in Worcester District Court that he wanted to make the hydrant pretty. The judge agreed that it was probably prettier than regulation red but it was not legal. Brink was fined $10. (UPI Telephoto)

Bay Counties Plotting Anti-Tax Measures

OAKLAND (UPI)—San Francisco's new commuter tax will eventually hurt the city's taxpayers much more than the commuters, according to Robert Hannon, chairman of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors.

Amidst threats of a boycott of San Francisco goods and services, representatives of five Bay Area counties met today in a council of war to plot strategy against the tax.

Spokesmen from Alameda, Contra Costa, San Mateo, Santa Clara and Marin counties said they would discuss other possible reciprocal economic measures against San Francisco.

Hannon called for a boycott of San Francisco goods and services following a preliminary meeting with representatives of the other Bay Area counties.

The controversial tax was adapted by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors last week. If it goes into effect, persons who work in San Francisco but live outside the city will be subject to a 1 per cent income tax. Anyone earning less than $4,000 per year will be exempt from the tax.

The move against the commuter tax gained momentum with the unanimous declaration by five county counsels that the tax was "illegal" and should be "contested in the courts."

Hannon said he plans to direct the Alameda County Purchasing Agency to stop buying from San Francisco firms.

Tax Loophole Plug Vowed

OAKLAND (AP) — If there is a loophole in state law allowing San Francisco to enact a 1 per cent tax on commuters, says Assemblyman Don Mulford he will try to close it.

The Oakland Republican said yesterday he will request the legislative counsel to check the law he authored to see if there is an exemption for charter cities like San Francisco, as Mayor Joseph Alioto claims.

The law prohibits counties from taxing residents of other counties, or cities from taxing those who live in nearby cities.

If necessary, Mulford said, he will seek additional legislation to close such a loophole when the special legislative session convenes Sept. 9.

"Clearly," Mulford said, "Mayor Alioto's tax is flying in the face of legislative intent. We spelled out that we don't want commuters penalized."

Spiritual Music Program Slated

The Vallejo chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and several central Marin churches will present a program of Negro spiritual music at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 27 at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

The program will be held to benefit the chapter's college scholarship fund, according to Mrs. Vernon M. Brown of Larkspur, member of Redwoods Prebyterian Church in Larkspur which is in charge of publicity for the event.

Other churches involved are Lutheran Church of Marin and Holy Innocent's Episcopal Parish, both Corte Madera, along with members of Church of All Faiths in Corte Madera and St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church of Larkspur.

Innocent Plea

Glenn Theodore Thornson, 19, of Sausalito, pleaded innocent this morning in Marin Superior Court to a charge of selling methedrine Jan. 20. A jury trial was set for Jan. 6.

Plea Sounded For Return Of Kidney Device

A San Rafael man appealed today for aid in recovering a small artificial kidney machine which he reports he lost Friday on a Greyhound bus from San Francisco to San Rafael.

Reginald J. Valencia, 49, of 316 Carillo Drive said he received the kidney machine Friday at his San Francisco office from University of Washington Hospital in Seattle, where he was treated after becoming ill 21 months ago.

He said he took the machine, which he described as stainless steel, weighing about two pounds and measuring about five by five by nine inches, on the bus which left the San Francisco depot at 1:10 p.m.

He said he put it on the rack above the seats and fell asleep. When the bus reached Marin's Civic Center and he got up to leave, the machine was gone.

Valencia explained the machine, which costs about $200, is used to feed a blood-thinning fluid into his body. "It's of no use except to one other person in Marin County and about 35 in Northern California," he said.

Greyhound personnel searched the bus for him, he reported, but found no machine. He then called the hospital in Seattle and it sent another machine to him which arrived this morning.

Valencia, partner in a San Francisco floor covering firm, uses the machine about three times per week for 10 hours at night. When he is without it, he says, he must get up every 90 minutes to inject the blood thinner into his body.

October Trial Set On Property Charge

Jury trial for Roger Wayne Ploof on two charges of concealing stolen property was set today for Oct. 14 in Marin Superior Court.

Ploof pleaded innocent on the two counts today. He is charged with having a amplifier and turntable taken from a Fairfax home May 27.

License Arrest

Radio announcer Richard Gebhardt, 602 Humboldt Street, Sausalito, while driving Sunday was arrested by police on a warrant for operating a vehicle while a license is revoked or suspended. He was let out of Marin County jail on $575 bail.

Reagan Petition Dispute Ruled Out By Marin Clerk

Claims by opponents of the unsuccessful drive to recall Gov. Ronald Reagan that there were widespread misrepresentations by circulators of the petitions proved completely false in Marin.

The county elections office reported today that its check of 18 complaints by voters that they "may" have signed the recall peition unintentionally did not turn up one of those names on the petitions.

Only one name was removed from a peitition, elections officials said, and that was of a woman who wrote that she changed her mind after signing the petition. She conceded she knew what it was that she had signed.

Elections officials previously commented that the voters who wrote the letter probably signed petitions to qualify an initiative to limit property taxes to 1 per cent of market value.

Some 17.6 per cent of the 6,271 signatures submitted on petitions were found invalid, elections officials said, thus cutting the total to 5,167 good signatures.

The number generally drops about 20 per cent after checking for invalid signatures, they said.

The county has 88,262 registered voters.

The statewide drive obtained only about 450,000 signatures, far short of the 780,414 required.

The drive, however, is continuing — but the secretary of state's office has ruled that it must start all over again.

Writer Suing Army For Look At Files On Russian Emigres

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The "top secret" records of the Soviet Union's alleged removal of 900,000 Russians from Western Europe after World War II are the target in the first test of the new U.S. Freedom of Information Act.

A suit filed by Julius Epstein, a Stanford University writer, asks that the Army be ordered to let him see the records on "Operation Keelhaul" immediately. The case was to come up for a hearing today.

FILED SUIT

Epstein filed the suit last spring contending that while the file on the transportation of prisoners could be embarrassing to some people, there is no basis for keeping it "top secret."

The case was brought under the information law which went into effect last year. It permits Federal courts to order the release of classified documents if it is determined they will not seriously endanger national defense or security.

Epstein, a former Austrian journalist and now a research associate at Stanford's Hoover Institution, said he has been trying since 1954 to obtain the documents for an historical book he is writing.

RUSSIANS FLED

Epstein contends about 900,000 Russians who had fled to Western Europe were forced to return to their homeland after the war and that most of them were executed or died in slave labor camps.

The government filed a lengthy argument opposing the suit. It said the documents should be kept secret "in the interest of defense or foreign policy." In addition, the suit was termed premature because the Army was examining the files "paper by paper" and might eventually release some of the documents.

The government also said the file cannot be declassified by the United States without the consent of the British, who helped collect the documents.

RENEWED

Epstein renewed his request to see the "Operation Keelhaul" file in the military archieves in July, 1967, as soon as the Freedom of Information Act became effective. He was advised the documents were "security classified and cannot be made available for unofficial research at the present time." Another request was rejected Oct. 4.

The Army a since conceded it is re-examining the documents but said because of the "complexity of interests" involved, the review would take some time.

Epstein said a precedent for lifting secrecy on the old files was set when Arthur D. Morse, another writer, was allowed to use secret military files in preparation of an account of Jewish suffering in Germany during World War II and the U.S. government's awareness of it.

Afro-American Exposition Help Is Being Sought

The Novatans for Racial Equality are seeking other groups to join in presenting a countywide Afro-American Show and Exposition.

Mrs. L. Charles Smith, a spokesman for the Novato group, said her membership expressed interest in the idea, presented last week by three San Francisco men but felt the prospect too large to handle alone.

The three, Solomon Akins, Bert Thomas and Joseph Ravarra, are also seeking to establish a black educational and cultural center on the West Coast, she said.

Mrs. Smith, of 2440 Center Road, said the ideas as presented to her organization included a presentation of the evolution of black music and dancing plus arts, crafts, literature and clothing displays.

Marijuana Case In Court Today

William John Weston, 29, of 15 Castro Street, Forest Knolls, arrested Thursday on suspicion of growing marijuana plants in his yard, was scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 1:30 p.m. today.

Sheriff's deputies reported that Weston was cultivating what appeared to be 50 to 60 marijuana plants in a plot in his yard. He was booked Thursday and released on his own recognizance.

Today is Monday, Aug. 19, the 232nd day of 1968 with 134 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning star is Saturn. The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1915 two Americans were killed when a German u-boat torpedoed the British liner "Arabic" in the Atlantic.

In 1955 the worst flood in the history of the northeastern United States killed 200 persons and destroyed or damaged 20,000 homes.

In 1963 James Meredith became the first Negro to graduate from the University of Mississipi.

In 1966 a 44-day airline strike ended at a cost of $1.5 billion.

A thought for the day: Bernard Baruch said, "America has never forgotten—and will never forget—the nobler things that brought her into being and that light her path."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

Partners Should Agree Upon Double At Grand Slam Play

The National Bridge Tournament in Minneapolis was opened a few weeks ago by an intercity match between Montreal and Minneapolis for the Congress Playing Card Cup. Minneapolis won, but not without suffering reverses, one of which came on a grand slam.

SLAM DOUBLE

Minneapolis expert David Clarren used the Lightner Slam Double to suggest an unusual opening lead to his partner. Theodore Lightner, who invented the conventional double more than 30 years ago, was not specific about which suit was called for by the double. And Clarren agreed with Lightner that the double should request only some kind of "unusual" lead.

Unfortunately for Clarren, another school of thought among bridge experts believes that the double of a slam should demand a lead in the first side suit bid by the dummy, and Clarren's partner belonged to this school. Since dummy's first side suit had been hearts, West opened the seven of hearts.

MAKES SLAM

Montreal expert Buddy Marsh made seven diamonds without much trouble against the heart opening lead. He ruffed the first heart, drew trumps, and led out the ace and king of hearts. When both hearts and spades broke very badly, declarer had to fall back on a club finesse. This succeeded, and joy reigned (for a time) in the hearts of the Montreal supporters.

RISKY DOUBLE

Clarren had hoped for a spade opening lead, which he would ruff to defeat the grand slam at once. The trouble with this use of the Lightner Slam Double is that it may warn the opponents to escape the ruff by bidding seven no trump. In today's hand, for example, South could have made seven no trump without risking a spade ruff.

♥ Q J 10 4 2
♦ J 9 8
♣ Q 10 8 7 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four hearts. This jump to game promises excellent trump support, a side singleton or void suit, and not more than nine points in high cards.

Fusselman Reviews 80 Years

By MARY LEYDECKER

In today's jargon "involvement" is the one word which would probably best sum up the life of one of the most controversial men ever to appear on Marin's political scene.

Former Supervisor William D. Fusselman, who celebrated his 80th birthday this month, not only has never backed away from life but he has "vivid memories" that go back to when he was a child of four before the turn of the century.

As he began his 81st year "Big Bill" reminisced over his life, the last 50 years of which have been spent in Marin County.

During those years Fusselman, who came to the county as a 30-year-old candy maker, served as a San Anselmo councilman and mayor, as head of Marvelous Marin Inc., a countywide promotional organization, and as a county supervisor for 22 years.

"When I was 30, I thought I was pretty old. At 40 it was worse, and then when I was 50 (I was mayor of San Anselmo then, I went into a blue funk because I thought I was all through," he laughed. "Everything since 50 has been a bonus."

GRITTY—Former Marin Supervisor William D. Fusselman, now 80, discusses politics, candy and hippies.

Life has not always been easy for Fusselman and his devoted wife, Ada. During the depression they had some pretty lean years in the candy business and Fusselman's health has not always been good. "But here I am," he chuckled.

A life of public service has not led to private riches for Fusselman, either. He described how he had to abandon a mail order candy project which was going very well years ago, because he no longer had time when he went on the San Anselmo council.

"I've always thought that if I'd had the time, I'd have made a lot of money from that," he said.

Instead he spent all of the time he could take away from his candy business on local politics and promotion of Marin County.

"When I was first supervisor, we were also road commissioners," he remembered. "Many times I stayed out all night in the pouring rain supervising storm repairs."

Another memory is when, as head of Marvelous Marin, he put together a 55-minute colored film on Marin County for the 1939 World's Fair. "I will have to get that out and show it to people again," he said, "because except for the clothes people wore the shots of Marin are just as good today as they were then."

One of the greatest storms of Fusselman's political life, which was never known for long periods of calm, came in 1961, when, as chairman of the supervisors, he ordered work stopped on the Civic Center. "I received a basket of vitriolic mail over that," he said, "but people didn't understand the pressure we were under."

He explained that he wanted a week's stoppage to find out if the Civic Center could be turned into a hospital, because the state wanted the county to close the old hospital in Lucas Valley.

"That hurt me a lot," he conceded. He was defeated three years later by Ernest N. Kettenhofen, who was in turn beaten at the June election this year.

Nowadays Fusselman keeps busy with his "County Comment" column written weekly for the Independent-Journal and a great deal of reading. He and his wife read a large number of magazines and newspapers regularly. "I wear tri-focals now and have to pace my reading," he laughed.

The phone still rings, too, from friends as well as other people all over the county who want to discuss county affairs with the former supervisor.

As to today's world, Fusselman said, "I don't have to tell you, we're living through a strange era."

"I don't know why the kids don't see through the hippies," he commented, "but it isn't just here. It's all over the world."

Year's Sentence For Marijuana

Jack Martine Green, convicted of possessing marijuana and a hypodermic needle Jan. 9 in San Anselmo, was sentenced to a year in jail by Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner Friday.

Green, 18, of Mill Valley, was told by the judge that the sentence can be reduced if he obtains and holds a job through the county's work furlough program.

Judge Gardiner told the youth it was a harsher than usual sentence for marijuana possession and said he based the length of the jail term on the length of Green's prior record while in Juvenile Court.

The Carabineros, Chile's national uniformed police force, have 1,200 officers and 25,000 men.

Prison Chaplain's Conference Is Set

Prison chaplains from throughout the United States will meet Sunday through Aug. 29 at the 98th Congress of the American Correctional Association in San Francisco.

A nationwide religious art contest will be held simultaneously, with prisoners' paintings to be on display at Glide Memorial Church, 330 Ellis Street, during the meeting, according to the Rev. Thomas F. Ahern, Catholic chaplain at San Quentin.

THE WILDER THE BETTER

Teens are not framing their works of art this summer, they are wearing them. Swirls and stripes of flippy flowers are on everything from jeans to sneakers. The "Dye-In" is created with a special dye kit equipped with red, yellow and blue dye, a felt tip pen and a paint brush. Results can be outrageously colorful psycha-doodles which are called surf strokers reflecting the originators, the Malibu surfing crowd. Stoked is a surf rider's term for the exhilaration felt when riding the crest of a big wave in perfect style.

Children Visit Regularly

By ROBERTA ULRICH

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Susan, age 6, Lisa, 5, and Patty, 3, their eyes wide with excitement, took turns looking through the kid-level window at their two-day-old sister.

That visit over, they went outside Woodland Park Hospital and stood beneath a window for a brief chat with their mother, Mrs. Edmond Morrison of Portland.

No nurse turned them away. No doctor shooed Mrs. Morrison back to bed. No administrator slammed the window to shut off the conversation between mother and daughters.

Both the children's visit to their brand new sister and their almost-visit with their mother are regular occurrences at Woodland, located in a surburban area just east of here. The hospital planned it that way.

"This is a family centered hospital," explains its administrator, A. Eugene Brim.

State law here, as in many states, prohibits children under 16 from visiting a maternity ward or pediatrics unit of a hospital.

Since nurseries are built as part of maternity wards, nearly all youngsters have been prevented from seeing new sisters and brothers until mother brings the baby home from the hospital. Doctors generally agree that's hard on the kids.

Woodland officials solved at least part of the problem by building its nursery unit facing a corridor outside the maternity ward. The next step was to put in a window at a level a four-year-old could see through. The kids flocked in.

"We love to watch them," said Mrs. Cathy Heisen, head nurse in the Obstetrics Department. "They're usually wide-eyed. Most of the comments are about the babies' hair and eyes. Some of the youngsters don't say anything. They just stare."

As for those visits with mother through the window—"I think it's wonderful," said Mrs. Morrison. "Before, I was away from the ones at home and they didn't really know where I was.

"This way they feel a lot better about it. They're so excited about the baby they can hardly wait to get her home."

A one-story structure Woodland has 140 beds with 18 of them in the maternity ward.

Down the corridor in pediatrics, hospitalization is a family affair too. "Marvelous" is the way Mrs. Richard Foreman, Portland, describes the policy that has permitted her to spend unlimited time with her son, Chuck, 10, victim of a boat propeller. His badly gashed leg will have him in the hospital five weeks.

With open visiting hours Foreman visits his son daily at 7:30 on his way to work. Mrs. Foreman spends five to nine hours at the hospital during the day, "depending on how Chuck feels."

Occasionally, she wheels him out onto a patio in the sun and there his older sisters and brother visit him. Sometimes they chat with him through the window.

"Having the parents here has a steadying effect on the child," said Miss Mae Walker, head nurse. "The parents feel better when they can contribute to the care of their child. We learn from them and they learn from us."

PORTLAND, ORE.: Held by her uncle, Peter Columbe of Wenham, Mass., three-year-old Patty Morrison of Portland, gets a good look at her two-day-old baby sister in the suburban Woodland Park Hospital. State law in Oregon, as in most states, prohibits children under 16 from visiting a maternity ward or pediatrics unit of a hospital. But Woodland officials solved the problem by building its nursery next to the maternity ward and installing a window so the kids can get a look at the new addition to the family. (UPI Telephoto)

Research To Tell Why Miniskirts

NEWCASTLE, England (UPI) —Government-backed researchers are going to take a long look at the miniskirt and try to determine what lies behind the see-through blouse.

All in the interest of psychological learning, of course.

Hundreds of girls will be questioned.

A psychologist will spend a year tabulating their answers.

Then the world will know:

"Why do girls wear miniskirts and see-through blouses?"

Or, why female fashion changes so often.

DR. KEITH GIBBINS, psychology lecturer at Newcastle University, Thursday said, "I want to find out what motivates a girl to wear a particular fashion and what message she is trying to convey."

His research will be supported by a $3,400 grant from the British government's Social Science Research Council.

"I'm sure some girls wear a miniskirt because it's fashionable—although they really don't like short skirts at all," Gibbons said. "It may be a love-hate relationship."

The psychologist also wants to find out whether a girl "wants to put across an image of boldness, youthfulness, sweetness, knowledge or what?" by the clothes she wears.

"And is the impression she wants to give when she raises her skirt from knee to mid-thigh any different from what her great-grandmother wished to convey when she hoisted her hemline half an inch above the ankle?"

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley, Tiburon and Corte Madera.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories more than seven days after the wedding.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.

'The Lord Was Good To Us'

Fifty years ago William M. Keaton had to persuade Bernice Cranton's parents to allow their daughter to marry him. He was in the service and leaving the area.

MR. AND MRS. William M. Keaton of San Rafael look back at the photo of his Army outfit from World War I, a group he was sworn into the day after their marriage Aug. 12, 1918. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Aug. 12, 1968, Mr. and Mrs. Keaton of San Rafael celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. Keaton said he wanted his girl waiting when he came home from the service, and was finally able to persuade her parents, even though she was not 18 years old.

"The good Lord has been good to us," she said of their married life, "and we had two daughters, five grandchildren and two great grandchildren."

Their daughter, Mrs. Donald J. Patton, lives in Novato and another daughter, Barbara, died in 1940.

Mr. and Mrs. Patton had an anniversary party for relatives of her parents on Aug. 10.

The Patton's have five children, Mrs. John Kingsley of San Rafael, Bill, Cecy, Mickey and Patty Patton. Ellen and Paul Kingsley, 4 and 2 years old, are the Keaton's great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Keaton were married on Aug. 12, 1918 and Mr. Keaton left for duty in the Army the following day.

In 1919 they moved to San Rafael and Mr. Keaton began working for his brother, the late J. Ray Keaton, original owner of Keaton's Mortuary. He still works part time for his nephews, Frank and Harold Keaton, who now own the business.

Both native Californians, Mr. Keaton was born in Guerneville in 1896, and Mrs. Keaton aas born in San Francisco in 1901.

William Keaton is a member of San Rafael Benevolent Protective Order of Elks and Wilkins Post of the American Legion in San Rafael. Mrs. Keaton retired in 1957 after 27 years as an employee with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company in San Rafael. She is a member of the American Legion Auxiliary 179 of San Anselmo.

Still young at heart, the Keatons spent Monday and Tuesday celebrating their anniversary in Reno.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'Dogs' Still Waiting For Signs Of Change Among Young People

DEAR HELEN:

In defense of youth — More than 35 years ago I cut this poem from a New York paper. It is as apt now as it was then:

QUO VADIS?

My grandpa notes the world's worn cogs
And says we're going to the dogs.
HIS grandpa in his house of logs
Said things were going to
the dogs.
HIS grandpa in the Flemish bogs,
Said things were going to
the dogs.
HIS grandpa in his hairy
togs
Said things were going to
the dogs.
But this is what I wish to state—
The dogs have had an awful wait!

—ANONYMOUS, J.D.Z.

DEAR J:

. . . And no doubt Adam and Eve said it too, for back when Cain killed Abel, statistics if available might show that one-fourth of the world's entire population had committed murder. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Last week my neighbors were called away by a death in the family. They asked me to watch their 14-year-old daughter. Foolishly I agreed.

She made my house a disaster area. One of my $50 lamps is broken — she even broke three windows. The whole week was nothing but trouble, sassing and disobedience.

My husband wanted to spank her several times but I wouldn't let him, as she wasn't our child.

Last night did it. She came home from a dance at six a.m. We were worried sick, but when I scolded her she threw a tantrum, and when I said we were going to spank her she said we'd have to catch her first.

She ran in the back yard and pushed my husband in the pool, then tripped me and I also fell in. My husband caught her and carried her into the house where he proceeded to administer discipline where it did the most good — with her across his knee.

Just then her parents walked in — they'd heard her howling as they drove up. The father punched my husband in the nose. The girl told them we'd spanked her every day since they left, which was a big lie, though she certainly deserved it.

Now our erstwhile friends won't speak to us and are telling everyone that we are child beaters, and if we don't apologize they'll take us to court. I say they'd better pay about $100 worth of damages their darling left behind her.

Should we apologize or demand reparations? —W.S.H.

DEAR W:

Apologize first, then present a bill for damages. The little darlin' no doubt deserved a great big hand, but you weren't the ones to administer it. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

The asinine letter signed "Real Woman" makes me sick. This faithless creature proclaims she thanks God every day for sending her an extra man, in addition to her husband. Does she want us to believe God is reneging on his stand against adultery?

The husband and lover are milking the same cow, yet even a dumb husband can tell that someone else is getting the cream. How does a man with years of fidelity behind him fight against the "wonderfulness" of womanhood as portrayed by this sexy Pied Piper? I have discovered my wife is like that too.

—DUMB BUT EYES OPEN

DEAR DUMB:

He could throw the rascal out. —H.

Auto Tragedy Preventable

Don't turn an enjoyable trip into a horrible tragedy. "The family automobile is a potential hazard to the safety of its occupants, especially children," cautions Dr. Albert H. Domm, medical director and child safety spokesman for a western home office of an insurance company.

He advises families going on vacation to follow these safety precautions:

1. Keep children buckled under seat belts while car is in motion.
2. Do not allow balloons, pinwheels, etc., outside moving auto.
3. Keep children off the rear window ledge. A sudden stop may hurl a child forward with painful, or even fatal results.
4. Keep doors locked at all times. Be especially alert in keeping children away from door latches and handles. If your children are at the inquisitive stage consider the greater safety of a two-door car.
5. Avoid over-exhuberant play by children while car is moving. It's bound to detract from the attention you need to give to the road.

Lots Of Ribbons

Hair ribbons are in for fall. One, two, three or more ribbons placed artfully in the hair will be the order of the day and night. All it takes is a good hairbrush, a little imagination and a large selection of ribbons.

John L. Sullivan Jr. Claims Sherrill Sherrick As His Bride

Sherrill Ann Sherrick of San Rafael became the bride of John L. Sullivan Jr. of Concord in a noon nuptial mass at St. Anselm's Catholic Church Aug. 10. She is the daughter of Mrs. Eleanor G. Sherrick of San Anselmo and La Verne Sherrick of San Rafael.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN L. SULLIVAN JR.

Sherrill chose Andrea Vanderbilt of San Anselmo as her maid of honor and Floretta Contos of Belvedere and John Blumenburg of Fairfax as her bridesmaids.

Tim McCormac was best man with ushers being Tom Sullivan and Tom Cagne. All are of Concord.

The reception which followed was held at the home of the bride's mother. A wedding trip to Santa Cruz followed with the couple returning to make their home in Sacramento.

The bride is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin. She is a sister of Gregory A. Sherrick, in the Army in Korea, and Suzanne E. and Jeanne M. Sherrick, both of San Anselmo. D. Mender of San Anselmo is her grandfather.

John is the son of Mrs. Ruth M. Craig of Concord and John L. Sullivan of San Francisco. He was graduated from Clayton Valley High School and is based with the Air Force at McClellan Air Force Base in Sacramento. His family includes Tom, Patricia, Kelly A. and Kimberly M. Craig, all of Concord. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hodgson of Boulder Creek and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. La Blanc of San Francisco.

No Radical Changes, Say Rome Designers

By SHEILA WALSH

ROME (UPI)—Rome's high fashion designers are playing it safe in their new fall and winter collections. No radical departures in hemline, no massive swing toward pants suits. Skirts remained generally above the knees and once in a while a maxi-length coat would appear, not a general trend.

These were some of the highlights of the couture collections shown to an international set of buyers and press.

IN SHAPE, the A-line was a favorite. Waists were noted and usually belted. Most of the frills and flutter were held for evening clothes.

Subdued colors dominated the fabric scene. Valentino, considered among the top of Italy's pace setters presented a choice of colors for day clothes—white, gray, brown, black or bottle green.

BUT HIS EDICT was: one color at a time, please. Say brown. Then make it a brown look from head to toe. For evening, Valentino was a bit more lenient with color.

The Italians continued the booted look, with footwear often a cross between boot and stocking. Low heels were still in the majority, but a few designers showed genuinely high-heeled pumps.

THE TURTLENECK, a favorite in both men's and women's wear internationally, was everywhere in the Rome collections too. Sleeves were long to add further protection against drafts. Furs were lavish and fanciful—a herringbone patterned black ermine cape, for instance, or a white mink with black circular insets. Themes of the collections ranged from the Napoleonic to the Hollywood 1920's and '30's. And they even range to Pocahontas, with ideas from the American Indians popular with several designers.

Susan Laufer-James Derr Announce Engagement

SUSAN D. LAUFER

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Laufer of San Rafael announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan D. Laufer, to James F. Derr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Derr, also of San Rafael.

Susan is the sister of Michael, Deborah, Irene, Marcia and Andrew Laufer. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Cooper and Mrs. Catherine Laufer of San Rafael.

James and Susan were both graduated from Terra Linda High School. She is employed by the Bank of Montreal in San Francisco, and he is a student at San Jose State College.

The couple plan a January wedding at Blessed Sacrament Church in Santa Venetia.

Eye Tones Smoky

As lipstick hues get brighter eye tones get smokier. Glamor glasses from Foster Grant Co. provide a foolproof way to have brown eyes. Tortoise frames, sometimes with tan lenses, sometimes with pastel lenses come in an unlimited variety of shapes. Round, oval, square or hexagonal designs suit every face.

Save Labor Costs

If you're hiring a professional painting contractor, do the following before he starts work: Move furniture to middle of room; dust walls and wash greasy or dirty areas with detergent and water; move all clothes out of closets, books out of book cases; take down draperies and blinds. By preparing in advance, you'll save unnecessary labor costs.

Quarter Century Given To League Of Church By Mrs. R. E. Larson

Mrs. Rudolph E. Larson, new president of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League of Peace Lutheran Church, Mill Valley, says she enjoys more than anything else singing, cooking for her family, including four grandchildren, and her Altar Guild duties.

She and her husband, a real estate broker in Mill Valley, have lived in Marin only six years, but she has been active for 26 years in the Lutheran Women's Missionary leagues in Omaha, Neb., and in Pasadena.

She was president of the league in the First Lutheran Church in each city for two years. She was also president of a parent-teacher association unit in Omaha two years.

The new president is planning for the coming year a special dinner to raise funds for the kitchen in Peace Lutheran Church and a fall bazaar to benefit the Lutheran Children's Home for the retarded in Terra Bella. She is also active in the Altar Guild of the church and in the auxiliary of the Children's Home.

Enna Ane was graduated from Peru State Teachers College and before her marriage was a teacher. During World War II she was employed as a receiving clerk for the Omaha Street Railway Company.

The Larsons have one daughter, Mrs. Carl David Erickson of Mill Valley, who has four children.

Mrs. Larson lists her other interests gardening, sewing, needlepoint, traveling and corresponding with Swedish relatives in this country and Sweden.

WHO IS GEORGE?

South Dakotan Looks At McGovern

By JOANNE GRANT

When Sen. George McGovern announced that he would seek the presidential nomination, one of the most frequently asked questions was:

"Who is George McGovern?"

In California, it's a valid question and news stories have reviewed his career in detail. But it's a difficult question for even his long time supporters to answer completely.

We've followed him since he was a neighbor in Mitchell, S.D. — watched him create things from almost nothing; rise to a position of respect in Washington, and still retain the qualities that made him an unusual man from the start.

It was in 1953 that McGovern, then a somewhat shy political science professor, agreed to accept the risky job of executive secretary of the defunct Democratic Party of South Dakota.

His first "office" was a $15 corner of a local insurance man's office — it was all the party needed or could afford.

McGovern drew on his education (he holds a doctorate of philosophy in political science) to begin building the party. There were then just two Democrats in the 110-member state legislature and none in major offices.

BEHIND THE MAN—Mrs. George McGovern is described by friends as a sensitive woman, a great organizer and an attractive, gracious hostess whose motto is "anything for George" no matter whatever it entails. (AP Wirephoto)

His genuine interest in people is individuals and a deep understanding and concern for their problems helped arouse the Democrats.

And this interest, coupled with his exceptional honesty and an indefinable inspiring inner strength created an intense loyalty to McGovern himself — among both Democrats and Republicans.

They were ready to support him in 1956 when he made his first attempt at public office, even though no one's memory was long enough to recall South Dakota having a Democratic representative in Washington.

Money was still a problem. There was the time he was going to Sioux Falls for a television appearance and had to stop along the way to collect enough political donations to pay for it.

He was elected, later served as Food for Peace director and then in 1962 stepped up to the Senate, another almost incredible feat.

Many South Dakotans believe in him implicitly — one commented recently, "He has never used or abused the truth."

He is still operating on a limited budget, but in his campaign for Senate re-election, the polls show him leading his opponent, former Gov. Archie Gubbrud.

Grubbrud recently tried to justify McGovern's lead with comments on the Senator's "expensive political organization" which is canvassing door-to-door in South Dakota.

The remark delighted the dozen or so college students who are doing the canvassing chiefly because of their belief in McGovern.

Their devotion is typical. Through all of his time in office, McGovern has been surrounded by a small, extremely loyal staff.

His most dedicated follower, however, is his wife, Eleanor, whose motto seems to be "anything for George" no matter whatever it entails.

She is a tiny, sensitive woman, a great organizer and an attractive, gracious hostess.

The only significant change in the man McGovern from those early, lean days as party secretary seems to be a result of his experience.

He isn't so quiet anymore — his beliefs are so deep and his ideas so urgent, he must speak.

Testimonal Set for George Scott

George Scott, who served for 20 years as president of the Building and Construction Trades Council of Marin County, will be honored by a testimonial dinner Oct. 4 at Lin Fa's Restaurant in Terra Linda.

The dinner, sponsored by the Marin County Labor Council, will start with a no-host cocktail hour at 7 p.m.

Council President Charles B. Weers of Sheet Metal Workers Local 75 and Secretary-Treasurer James A. Smith of the Butchers Local 115 are in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

Young Members On Commissions Due Plea Again

Marin supervisors will be asked tomorrow to name two young persons to county commissions.

An organization called Youth Power has urged the appointment of Raymond Bresnan, 15, of Novato, to the parks and recreation commission, and Terry W. Keenan, 21, of Greenbrae, to the juvenile delinquency prevention commission.

Supervisors also are scheduled to discuss a proposal to have the deputy county auditor supervise welfare grant computation, make final preparations for a public vote on gun regulations Nov. 5 and adopt an employees' grievance procedure.

The all-day meeting begins at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center administration building.

Grandmother Quits Battle; Boy To Stay With Father

GILBERT, Iowa (UPI) — "That ends it as far as I'm concerned."

That's how Mrs. Dwight Bannister summed up the apparent end to a two-year court and family battle over the custody of her 10-year-old grandson, Mark Painter.

A Gilbert minister, dispatched by the Bannisters to California, returned during the weekend to report he was "satisfied" that Mark wished to remain in Brookdale, Santa Cruz County, with his father, Harold Painter, rather than return to the Bannister farm in central Iowa.

PROMISED

Mrs. Bannister had promised to abide by the boy's wishes.

She had only a terse comment about the report of Rev. Clay Lumpkins, pastor of the Gilbert Congregational Church.

"That ends it as far as I'm concerned," Mrs. Bannister said last night. "I have nothing more to say."

ACCIDENT

Mark's mother, Jeanne Bannister Painter, and his younger sister, were killed in a traffic accident near Pullman, Wash., in December, 1962. About six months later, Painter asked the Bannisters to care for Mark. After remarrying, Painter sought custody of Mark again and the Bannisters refused.

The dispute ended up in the Iowa Supreme Court, which issued an unusual decision in 1966. The court, in reversing a decision by the Story County District Court, said the boy would be better off with his grandparents in a "stable, dependable, conventional, middle-class Middle West home."

The high court said this was preferable to placing the boy with his father in a "romantic, impractical, unstable and arty" California environment.

SUPREME COURT

The U.S. Supreme Court refused to consider the case after the Iowa high court handed down its controversial decision.

Under the terms of the Iowa court ruling, Mark was permitted to visit his father, a writer-photographer, once a year. But during this year's visit, Painter started court proceedings in California to gain permanent legal custody of his son.

That was when Mrs. Bannister dispatched Rev. Lumpkins to California at the Bannisters' expense.

SAW HIM

"I saw the boy and I'm satisfied that this is what he wants," Revy Lumpkins said on his return to Iowa. "I know Mark well enough. We have been pretty good buddies for quite a while. We just had a good relationship — we still do."

The pastor said he met with Mark in Oakland, at the home of Patinter's lawyer Robert Treuhaft.

"I asked Mark something like, 'When are you coming back to Iowa'?" Lumpkins said. The minister said the boy replied, "I'm going to stay here."

Alioto Backing Tactical Squad Despite Critics

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph L. Alioto says the Police Department Tactical Squad should be retained, despite criticism stemming from an alleged beating of seven teen-agers by two members.

The city needs an effective antiriot squad, "and this one has performed well when asked to," the mayor said Friday.

Two members, Elbert Boyd and Thomas Dougherty, await trial on beating and gun-waving charges.

James Mailliard III, president of the Police Commission, said Thursday he favors disbanding of the 32-man squad.

Come to a free Reading Dynamics Mini-Lesson

Surf bunny, Dana Middleton, did. Now she shoots through a book an hour.

Even when the surf was up, Dana Middleton never had a problem shootin' the curl.

"But when it came to keeping up with my reading, I was really wiped out."

Solution? Dana took a free Mini-Lesson and found that Reading Dynamics guaranteed to increase her reading speed at least three times.

Dana discovered that a Mini-Lesson is pretty much what the name says—a miniature version of what you learn in a Reading Dynamics course. Like using your hand as a pacer so you can read like you think—thought-by-thought instead of word-by-word.

To her surprise, Dana also found that rapid reading is just one of the rewards of reading dynamically. The techniques improve your comprehension, concentration, literary appreciation and ability to remember more efficiently what you read.

"The Mini-Lesson sold me on Reading Dynamics, says Dana who, like most Reading Dynamics graduates, now reads magazines, newspapers, novels—even detailed non-fiction—almost as fast as she can turn the pages.

If you want to change your reading speed from paddle to surf, start with a Reading Dynamics Mini-Lesson. It will cost you nothing but an hour of your time and you will probably be reading a little faster when you leave. Of course, if you want to read a lot faster for the rest of your life, Reading Dynamics course registrations are accepted at the close of all Mini-Lessons.

ATTEND A FREE MINI-LESSON THIS WEEK. YOU COULD WIN A FREE SCHOLARSHIP.

WATTS REVIEWED — Mr. and Mrs. Lanny G. Berry and their children, Michael, Judy and Lynne, review some of the brighter moments of their recent trip to the Watts Festival. Berry, however, had a somber report to make on the mood in Watts and its counterpart elsewhere. (Independent-Journal photo)

WATTS EYEWITNESS

Marinite Fears Race War

By MARION DIETRICH

"At Watts there was a helicopter with a cannon in it overhead. That's what white America is saying to me."

Lanny G. Berry of Lucas Valley was reacting to the violence which erupted while he was at the festival in Watts, his former hometown.

"If white society through its police continues what seems to be a policy of containment, I think there will be an out and out war between blacks and police," he predicted.

Berry, who is a special assistant to the superintendent of the Tamalpais High School District and holds a master's degree in social work, spent a week in Watts with his family.

He was present when shooting began between police and alleged members of the Black Panthers.

"I was never a prophet of doom," he said, "but when that shooting broke out there was complete chaos in the park.

"The police responded by massive concentration the next day — four to a car, three cars together, 125 police in the area on a 24-hour basis — and that I thought was a very provocative situation.

"No one questioned police should be available in time of crisis, but I did not think such massive police power was necessary during the incident or the next day.

"The violence followed the arrest of a woman for drunkenness, and I think it was a bad time and place to make such a minor arrest."

Berry also pointed out the other side — the police chief's view that there had to be a show of force not to let anything get out of hand.

"However," he said, "there is more concern with controlling the symptoms of upset than in getting at the conditions which create these symptoms.

'Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said last Monday there is $4.35 million available to the states for riot prevention and control. But obviously there is a reluctance on the part of congress to do the massive rebuilding job necessary to forestall an inevitable skirmish or bloodbath."

Berry detected in Watts "a tenseness that seemed more pronounced than last year."

He noted much of what is going on in Watts is happening in Marin City and Oakland. Throughout the country, he said, there is some tension between black and white.

And he added, "I think there is fear, distrust, suspicion and extreme hostility between the black community and the police.

'Most blacks feel that American leaders are bent on using the maximum amount of force to keep the black community in its place. They feel the police are the ones designated by white people to carry out these kinds of oppressive procedures."

Berry observed some improvements in Watts during his visit.

"Having grown up in Watts, I thought the festival a fantastic accomplishment for the people," he commented. "There is much more spirit than when I was there.

"There is the beginning of political awareness. And I believe black people are coming together in how they feel in the pit of their stomach. They are beginning in a positive way to feel differently about themselves.

"It's manifested in the terms in which they interact with each other. Now they often greet one another with 'brother' or 'sister.' They are coming up with a new ethos which transcends education and class."

Then berry swung full force into the problems in the community.

"Watts is still very impoverished," he stated. "The vacant lots give mute testimony to the chaos of 1965. There are few if any black businesses of note. Housing in the core area has not changed appreciably.

"School dropouts are numerous. One-parent homes represent a very destructive force in the community. Unemployment is a terrible problem.

"There is a number of job openings, but with the majority of the people limited in education, it is hard to get positions and people matched up."

Berry believes if changes are to take place, black persons must agree on some ideology along political, economic and cultural lines.

He continued, "we have to get away from individual leanings, the individual is only as strong as the group he belongs to."

Berry launched into a discussion of a major dilemma facing black people today.

"I think we are struggling desperately for some kind of real understanding of the nature of our position in this country and the most viable ways to change situations detrimental to the black community.

"I think we are struggling with two concepts: integration, which has been forced on us by the white community as a palliative or placebo, and nationalism, as it relates to the black community."

School Issue Not Helped By Legislation

By ROSS DAVIS

Legislation doubling the required number of committeemen from each county supervisorial district on the Marin County Committee on School District Organization won't help efforts to have the Sir Francis Drake High School attendance area better represented.

This was the conclusion last Friday of Charles E. McCully, deputy county schools superintendent, and Mrs. Mary Olive, 7 Agatha Court, San Anselmo, a leading advocate for better committee representation for the high school area.

Galen Williams, a committee member who has spoken for better representation, agreed that further change would be needed.

TWO MEMBERS

The bill, signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan June 5, declares the 11-member committee must now have two members elected from each of the five supervisorial districts, leaving one post for a member-at-large. Previously, only one member was required from each district, and posts for six members-at-large existed.

The 11 members are elected to four-year terms by trustee representatives named by school district boards. The system, however, only insures that two members will be from each supervisorial district, and does not specify from what school attendance areas the members might come.

Mrs. Olive and other have contended that Sir Francis Drake High has had no representation and last March launched a campaign to alter this. Williams at that time suggested the possibility of such a change by expanding the law to require a representative of each high school area.

ELECTIONS

McCully said last Friday the superintendent of schools' office has scheduled annual elections over a three-year period starting Nov. 7 to comply with the new legislation, but agreed the system won't necessarily give that school area a representative member.

The transition, he said, calls only for the election of one member each from the first and fourth districts, to fill expiring terms, on Nov. 7; two members from the third and one from the fifth in 1969, and one member from the fifth and on at-large member in 1970.

He said the second district, in which Drake lies, already has four committeemen, but none happens to reside in the school attendance area.

McCully added that the change desired by Mrs. Olive, however, could result if someone in the second district resigned and someone in the Drake area were appointed. He also said the 1970 election of an at-large member could have the same result.

BY VOTERS

Mrs. Olive said the best solution now would be for the Legislature to change the system so committeemen are elected by qualified voters of the supervisorial district, rather than by the trustee representatives.

District 1 has two members. District 2 has four; District 3 has two; District 4 has two, and District 5 has one.

The committee on school district organization will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the county schools office.

Boat Grounds In Fog, All Wade To Safety

A sports fishing boat carrying 10 persons ran aground in dense fog on Duxbury Reef, off Bolinas, yesterday afternoon, but there were no injuries.

The 38-foot boat, named Sportfisherman, smashed into rocks about 100 feet offshore and all hands made their way ashore through water that was three to four feet deep, reported Chief Jose Silva of the Bolinas Volunteer Fire Department.

Fireman lowered ropes over a cliff so survivors could climb from the beach after they picked their way over the rocks to shore, Silva said. Fireman also helped survivors salvage personal belonging and fishing gear.

Skipper of the boat was Orville Bussey of Berkeley, but its home port was not learned, Silva said. "There was a report that it was from San Pablo," he said.

The Coast Guard got a report from another boat, the Cindy Lou, at 3:09 p.m. that the Sportfisherman, was aground. A patrol boat and helicopter were dispatched, but visibility was zero and the helicopter returned to its base because it couldn't penetrate the fog, the Coast Guard reported.

Silva said the vessel was left leaning on the rocks and Bussey didn't intend to salvage it.

Advocate Of Disarmament To Face Battery Charge

Architect Charles Warren Callister of Tiburon, whose battle cry is "disarm your local police," was to be charged in Marin Municipal Court today with doing violence on a lady who occupied a telephone booth he wanted to use Wednesday night.

The misdemeanor complaint alleges that Callister, 50, committed battery on Mrs. Michelle Glaser, 31, of Belvedere, on his way home from a meeting in his office by Marin residents who want to combat militancy by disarming policemen.

Mrs. Glaser, of 555 San Rafael Avenue, told Belvedere police that she was talking in a telephone booth at 83 Beach Road at 11:25 p.m. when Callister approached and asked how long she planned to use the phone.

EXPECT WAIT

She told the architect, who lives at 83 West Shore Road, Belvedere, to expect about a 10-minute wait, she said.

Mrs. Glaser charged that, without provocation, Callister grabbed her by the throat, hung up the telephone, choked her, hit her and pulled her from the booth.

Then he drove off without even using the telephone, she told Belvedere police.

POLICE CALLED

Police were called to the scene by the woman to whom Mrs. Glaser had been speaking. She heard the scuffle over the phone and became concerned, officers said.

Mrs. Glaser signed the complaint against Callister in the district attorney's office Friday. Deputy Atty. J. Michael Anthony said the complaint would be filed in Municipal Court today. A letter will be mailed, instructing Callister to appear in court for arraignment Friday, Anthony said.

At his home today, Callister admitted having an argument over use of a pay telephone Wednesday night, but denied using any force or violence. "I didn't touch her. I didn't even call her a bad name. If having an argument is battery, then I guess . . ." he said.

STOPPED AT PHONE

Callister, whose architectural office is in Tiburon, said the lady would not allow him at the telephone, which he stopped to use on his way home from the police disarmament meeting.

"She kept me waiting for 20 minutes or so," he said. "She was sort of . . . well at one time she accused me of having her passport."

At last Wednesday's meeting, which ended just shortly before his encounter with Mrs. Glaser, Callister and 35 other Marin residents discussed combatting "the developing attitudes of militancy in the community" through use of civilian police patrols and unarmed police officers.

Reagan Signs Bill On Bolinas Harbor

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to extend to 1971 Bolinas Harbor District's deadline to improve the lagoon has been signed into law by the governor.

The bill (SB 1014), by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, was introduced at the request of the harbor board.

Because of opposition by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, McCarthy amended the bill to give the supervisors veto power over an development plan drawn by the harbor board. The supervisors withdrew their opposition after the amendment was made.

The State Lands Commission granted the lagoon to the district in 1959 on condition that it be "substantially improved" within 10 years. However, it was not until 1961 that the district was able to clarify its jurisdiction.

Youth Reports Driver Beat Him

A 19-year-old San Rafael youth told police a young man leaped upon him and beat him as he walked at First and E streets at 3:40 a.m. yesterday.

Richard P. Silvas, 242 Clorinda Avenue, told officers the assailant stopped his white pickup truck, got out, and began striking him. He said the attacker fled when he fought back. Silvas did not seek medical treatment.

The assailant was described as a Caucasian, 22 to 25, years-old, five feet, 11 inches tall, with medium build and brown hair, wearing a dark jacket and pants.

Youth Flees With Bogus Check Profits

Corte Madera police today were seeking a young man who apparently purchased a radio with a forged $141 check Saturday at Corte Madera shopping center.

Officers said he bought the $42 radio at Butler's Magnavox Home Entertainment Center, endorsing and passing a check issued by Bellach Furniture Co. in San Rafael and payable to a Mark E. Jergesen of San Rafael.

Questioned further after the transaction, however, the youth fled, according to officers. They said he kept the change but dropped the wrapped radio in an outside waste can.

The radio was recovered and a Mill Valley youth was later questioned but released because of lack of identification, police said. They described the check-passer as about 19 years old, having blond hair with long sideburns, and wearing light-colored clothes.

Bullets Fired At Deputies In Substation

A shot, possibly from a high-powered rifle, narrowly missed two deputies at the Marin City substation of the Marin County Sheriff's Office late Saturday.

Deputy Al Brown reported that he and Deputy Calvin Carr were at the station at 11:25 p.m. when three shots rang out from in front of the station.

He and Carr were stung by falling matter as one of the bullets lodged inside the substation about seven-and-three quarters of an inch from the ceiling, he reported.

Carr said he felt the heat of the bullet which passed nearby.

Brown said he rushed outside but could find nothing to indicate where the shots came from.

Before the shots, he heard a car in front of the substation and afterwards heard a car leaving fast, he said.

Only Sensible Decision On Gun Ordinance

Marin County supervisors have done the only sensible thing in putting the county gun registration ordinance on the November ballot.

When the supervisors passed the ordinance in June, the Marin Rod and Gun Club, sporting goods dealers and others promptly got busy. This resulted in petitions signed by 7,093 voters calilng for either repealing the ordinance or putting it to a vote of the people.

This was an impressive number of signatures, but hardly enough to justify the supervisors in scrapping a law that obviously has wide endorsement. The sensible solution is the one the board took: Put the issue to the test on the ballot and let the majority rule.

It seems a trifle odd that the registration opponents insist they represent the majority, yet most of them who spoke at the supervisors' session last Tuesday opposed the referendum. If they are so sure of winning, it would seem they should welcome it.

ONE FLAW in the procedure is that, while all voters in the county will ballot on the measure, the ordinance would apply only in the unincorporated areas. This makes it possible for city residents to impose a law to which they would not be subject, since residents of Marin's 11 cities outnumber those of the unincorporated areas 2-to-1.

Not only would this be unfair, but an ordinance that applied only outside the cities would not be very effective.

One city, Sausalito, already has adopted its own gun registration ordinance. Four others, Novato, Fairfax, Larkspur and Mill Valley, have such ordinances under consideration.

It would appear both sensible and proper for all the city councils to adopt resolutions that they will abide by the result of the county-wide vote, enacting the same ordinance as the county if it is approved by the voters, and enacting none if it is turned down. They should adopt such resolutions well in advance of the Nov. 5 election date.

A lot of nonsense has already been spouted about gun control. More will be. Each side has accused the other of hysteria. Both have sometimes been right.

IN CONNECTION with such laws, it is interesting to note the position taken by the national executive committee of the American Legion — an organization that even the National Rifle Association has never accused of being subversive. This governing body of the Legion in May adopted a resolution opposing federal registration of firearms, but supporting local firearms licensing "by duly authorized law enforcement agencies" and advocating that mail order sales of guns to persons without local permits be banned.

Hard To Replace

The Association of Bay Area Governments has picked a good man for its new executive director in J. Julien Baget, city manager of Novato.

Baget is to be congratulated on the appointment, which recognizes his ability substantially, as it pays $4,150 more than his Novato salary.

The City of Novato may find it is not easy to replace him.

Baget has been chief administrative officer of Novato since shortly after the city's incorporation in 1960. He has played a major role in the city's development.

The city council has recognized his performance with salary increases which doubled Baget's pay during the eight years, but has been niggardly when it came to providing him with help. His requests for an assistant have been regularly blue-penciled.

Novato's city fathers may have trouble finding another man of Baget's ability who will do the job without help.

Maybe Humphrey Should Choose Alioto For Running-Mate

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon's choice of Spiro Agnew as his vice presidential candidate gives the Democrats a special opportunity.

What they can do — to their own great advantage — is to give their nominee a running-mate of evident presidential stature who will also be a valuable, vote-getting campaigner.

Apparently Nixon decided to dispense with both of these assets, though in the end he may be proved right and the rest of us wrong — that is, the many Republican delegates at Miami Beach who were chilled at the Agnew decision and the many political reporters who gasped in disbelief when the choice was announced after a night and a morning of painful canvassing.

THERE IS NO solid evidence that a vice presidential candidate has ever made the difference between winning and losing a presidential election. FDR never gave a hoot who his running-mate was. Dewey picked Earl Warren as the vote-gettingest Republican and the most electable governor California ever had. But that didn't enable Dewey to carry Warren's home state. In 1960 LBJ may well have held a few influential southern politicians in line, but there is no proof that, across the country, he didn't hurt Kennedy more than he helped.

This may be why Nixon could be right in picking a lower-drawer running-mate and turning aside the likes of Lindsay or Percy or Hatfield, any one of whom would have been far more welcome by the convention than what it got.

BUT PAST is not always prologue, and with Hubert Humphrey as its probable nominee the Democrats could disprove the rule about vice presidential candidates.

It wouldn't be easy. The candidates who could do Humphrey the most good may elude him. Sen. Edward Kennedy has said no, and all the last-minute persuasion and pressure may not change his mind. Obviously, the acceptance by Senator McCarthy of the vice presidential nomination would greatly unite the badly-splintered Democratic party, and he would undoubtedly be a vote-getter with Humphrey.

But McCarthy's attitude is uncertain. He may not even support the ticket, and if he sticks to favoring concessions to Hanoi which would enable the Communits to take over South Vietnam with our connivance, McCarthy could end up being a divisive rather than a unifying figure. But a McCarthy genuinely willing to support Humphrey's determination to bring about a settlement short of capitulation would be a great asset to Humphrey.

HUMPHREY HAS a third possibility who, although perhaps not instantly as well known as Agnew, might very well outmatch him before they got very far into the campaign. He is the mayor of San Francisco, Joseph L. Alioto. He has proved himself a brilliant campaigner, knowledgeable and persuasive. He knows the problems of the cities and has begun to deal with them in San Francisco in a way to impress liberals and conservatives alike.

While violence and rioting were erupting in many cities, in the wake of the assassination of Martin Luther King Jr., they didn't erupt in San Francisco, and the reason was Alioto's alert, sensitive, and wise handling of a very explosive situation. There is reason to believe he is high on Humphrey's list.

NIXON, OF COURSE, knew what he was doing. It was a deliberate calculation. He wasn't pushed into it. He must have figured that Agnew was committed enough to the cause of racial justice to be consistent with Nixon's wishes and sufficiently identified as a strong advocate of law and order to help Nixon in the South. But it is uncertain it will turn out that way when Agnew's record on the whole range of civil rights is better known. He sponsored the first statewide fair-housing bill enacted south of the Mason-Dixon line. He brought Maryland's public accommodations statute into line with federal law. He helped repeal the century-old law against interracial marriages.

But above all, both vice presidential candidates must be judged on whether they are qualified to become President.

Humphrey's Unity Plea Slaps At McCarthy

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Vice President Humphrey and his top campaign aides are using a strong plea for post-convention party unity in their 11-hour courting of delegates to the Democratic national convention.

The strategy reflects their supreme conviction that Humphrey will win the presidential nomination. It assumes that the vice president's major problem, now as well as later, is party harmony.

An informal taskforce of Humphrey aides and advisers has been addressing itself to this, and other, post-Chicago problems for several weeks.

THE LONG-RANGE emphasis in current Humphrey strategy is demonstrated by a "unity" letter sent personally this week to each convention delegate and alternate. The letter is signed by Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., and Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., the co-chairmen of the Humphrey campaign drive.

The letter contains a few jabs at Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, Humphrey's principal rival for the presidential nomination, but those comments are subordinated to what the authors describe as "some thoughts about the convention and about the future of our party."

The letter stresses that Humphrey has pledged his support, in advance of the convention, to the party's platform and its presidential nominee. It then adds: "It is in this spirit that we urge our fellow Democrats to approach" the convention.

THE TWO SENATORS raise the question of delegations bound to McCarthy, now that Humphrey has released delegates committed to him by the rule requiring some delgations to vote as a unit.

"We hope that Senator McCarthy will take advantage of statutes in Massachusetts and Oregon which permit him to release the delegates bound to him by law in those states," the Mondale-Harris letter says.

At issue here are 72 delegates in Massachusetts and 35 in Oregon who are legally bound to McCarthy as a result of primary contests. One member of the Oregon delegation, Cornelius C. Bateson, has asked to be released, according to Humphrey aides, and 12 members of the Massachusetts delegation want to support the vice president, not McCarthy.

Another English magistrate decreed, "Swimming pools near highways in this town must henceforth be screened, since girls in bikinis constitute a traffic hazard." And a third gentleman on the English bench made a lady who owned 50 cats dispose of 48 of them. "Even two," he added (no cat lover he) "are nuisance enough."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Letter Remembered By Concerned Reader

Last fall I wrote a letter to you (that was printed) explaining the need for clothing at Napa and Sonoma State hospitals. In January of this year I wrote you a "thank you" letter for the warm response received to this appeal (also printed). It would seem this is a "continuing thank you," since tonight I received a phone call from a woman who had read, and remembered, the first letter. It seems she makes almost weekly trips past both hospitals (on outings with elderly persons) and wondered if she could help to deliver clothing to the hospitals.

Her inquiry was met with a hearty, "Yes! Thank you!"

May I extend a similar "thank you" to the Independent-Journal and to your, obviously, concerned readers.

'Trade In Marin' Has Several Benefits

A partial solution to the one per cent tax imposed upon the residents of Marin County is to strongly urge these people to trade with local merchants whenever possible. In doing so, this will keep more money in Marin County, and enable local business men to employ more people and pay more taxes in Marin and less in San Francisco.

For every product imported from San Francisco and other areas outside of Marin County the people are paying 5 to 7 per cent more for the same item, if they included shipping charges to the purchase price of the object they purchase. The only reason the counter price paid in San Francisco is less than Marin County is because they can buy merchandise at much larger quantities than Marin merchants can. If all the Marin County residents transacted business only in Marin, the merchants of Marin could buy at the larger quantities, be able to sell at lower cost and employ more Marin County residents. This eliminates the need of 25 per cent of the commuters; therefore, less taxes out of Marin pockets to San Francisco.

Property Tax Initiative: Invitation To Disaster

(Reprinted from Riverside Press)

The more Californians learn about the November ballot proposition for drastic limits on the property tax, the less they should like it.

The learning process got a boost in Riverside Monday during a public hearing before the county Board of Supervisors. Government officials, lawyers, tax experts and real estate developers landed hard on the initiative proposal. Out of 14 who spoke, only three had a good word for the measure.

The proposal is that property taxes immediately be limited to one per cent of market value and that, by stages ending in 1973, no property tax dollar could be spent for people-related, as opposed to property-related purposes. That would mean no property tax support for such important items of government concern as education, health and welfare.

The intention is that the state would find other sources of revenue to support these services. But the California Taxpayers Association has figured out that this would require tripling the state income tax or raising the sales tax to 11 or 12 cents on the dollar.

Either would be a tax at least as burdensome as the property tax, and probably as unfair, in all cases save those of elderly persons trying to live on fixed dollar incomes.

Moreover, the tax would be so burdensome that the state Legislature might never be able to summon the political courage to replace the lost revenue. Any such default would invite the kind of chaos that engulfed Nebraska a few years ago when voters repealed the property tax and refused to adopt an income tax in one and the same election.

At the local hearing, schoolmen, water district representatives, and developers whose plans depend on water and utility connections, said the proposed property tax ceiling would make it impossible to launch bond issues. Result: economic stagnation.

The property tax does cry out for modification. But this can best be accomplished, not with piecemeal heroics, but as part of a carefully thought out package of total tax reform. The initiative proposal, if adopted, would court disaster.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

Why Does Alioto Insist On Tax? Four Possible Political Reasons

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto is shrewd enough to know that his commuter tax probably going to die in a court test, so why did he try for it?

The most obvious reason appears to be that even after it is defeated, he can tell his voters at least he tried. He can appear again on television to explain how the rest of the Bay Area conspired against the people of his city.

He also, of course, could use the defeat of the tax to justify another round of new taxes for San Franciscans.

Another possible reason for his pushing the tax is that it helped the business community swallow the other half of his new tax program — a tax on gross receipts. Again, he can explain to the businessmen that he tried.

A FOURTH possibility is that he tried it just to awaken the rest of the Bay Area to the crisis of its core city.

This tactic may have some value in Marin, but it hardly suits the commuter from Oakland and Richmond, where the problems also are grave.

Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney has said the matter may go to the U.S. Supreme Court, but there is some question whether that court would accept jurisdiction.

JUDGING FROM the debate on the tax last Monday by San Francisco supervisors, the mayor will have to work on attitudes at home before he can interest commuters in his problems.

Prominent among the supervisors' jaundiced allegations was one by Supervisor Robert H. Mendelsohn, who said commuters "skim off the cream of our urbane and sophisticated city and then return to Mill Valley, Milpitas and Millbrae to sit down with a martini around the swimming pool."

This is the kind of reckless drivel that only can sabotage whatever willingness suburbanites may feel to help San Francisco. It sounds great when you're looking for votes, but Mendelsohn also might have thought of the votes he sees in his political future.

Mendelsohn plans to try someday for the congressional seat held by William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District. The district, however, includes most of Marin as well as the silk-stocking western portion of San Francisco.

It was no surprise, of course, that the opposition to the tax was led by Mailliard's brother, James.

THE SUPERVISORS' quick 8-3 vote to impose the tax contrasts with their failure to act on a minor proposal by a San Rafael man.

The Marinite (no longer a commuter), Leslie A. Grant, has asked that San Francisco extend to all blind citizens of the Bay Area the privilege of carrying a pass to use buses and trolleys without having to fumble for change. Legally blind persons living in San Francisco now have this privilege.

He adds that his appeal to Alioto to help push his proposal "got a nice reception, but no action."

It would cost the city about $300 a year in lost fares, Grant estimates. That's not much for a city that can use some plus points with its suburbs.

Mission Pear Tree To Become Link With Past In Novato Park

A tree grows in San Rafael.

This is not just any ordinary tree, but a special one. It is one intended for Pioneer Memorial Park in Novato.

The history of this tree goes back more than a century and a half. Several years ago, when Alton Lerch was president of the Marin County Historical Society and M. E. Babe Silva was mayor of Novato, the last of the pear trees from Mission San Rafael was destroyed.

Karl Untermann of the West End Nursery in San Rafael took cuttings from this tree and grafted them onto other pear tree stock.

Lerch asked for one of the trees, which he hoped would be planted in Pioneer Memorial Park with a suitable bronze plaque declaring it to be a link to the past when the Novato area was under the San Rafael Mission.

Untermann last week said that he still has the tree for Novato. By now, it is about six feet tall. Any time that the city wants it, it can have it, he said.

We hope that Ribera and Sue, in their landscaping plans for the park, select a fertile spot where the tree can grow and be a link of Novato's past and future.

WITH DUE RESPECT to Frank Galli, the unofficial mayor of Ignacio, how big and just where is Ignacio? Or where does Novato leave off and Ignacio begin?

There had always been a friendly rivalry between the two settlements when they were unincorporated. Ignacio could have incorporated and taken in Hamilton Air Force Base, and become a sizeable city. Instead, Novato took the initiative and when it incorporated, surrounded the area known as Ignacio.

Not being incorporated, Ignacio does not have a post office, so all of its mail must be addressed to Novato.

Novato was served by Western California Telephone Co. and Ignacio by Pacific Telephone Co. As both areas grew, so did the areas served by the two telephone companies. There is a sizable portion of the city where both companies have service.

The Pacific company labels all of its 883 exchange numbers as Ignacio, whether or not they are within the City of Novato.

The other day I had occasion to call information to get a number not listed in the directory. It was on Cambridge Street, all of which lies inside the city. The operator said she had no such listing for Novato, but did have one for Ignacio. I told her that was probably the right one, even though it was in Ignacio.

She told me in no uncertain terms that it was not in Novato, but Ignacio.

A QUICK LOOK at a map of Novato shows that the area along South Novato Boulevard and its side streets, Marin Oaks, Marin Country Club Estates, Raphael Village, Ignacio Boulevard, San Jose Boulevard, Hamilton Air Force Base and the areas west and south of the base are all in Novato.

That leaves Loma Verde, a small area along the frontage road and Bel Marin Keys which might properly be termed Ignacio. That would mean that much more than half of the telephones listed in the directory as Ignacio are actually in Novato.

Perhaps the Novato Chamber of Commerce should send the manager of Pacific Telephone Co. a map of the city, so that he knows how much of Novato that his company is serving.

Used Car Lot Sign Will Be Considered

The Fairfax Design Review Board will hear an application by Frank A. Fuchs of 2600 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, for a sign for a used car lot adjacent to his property at 31 Bolinas Road, when it meets at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Fairfax Women's Club.

The meeting was rescheduled from a no-quorum session Aug. 1.

ART BUCHWALD

It's Great Year For Rhetoric, With Some New Items Selling

WASHINGTON — The largest manufacturer of political rhetoric in the United States is Hiram Thesaurus, with whom I was fortunate to talk at the Republican national convention in Miami Beach last week.

Thesaurus was standing in front of one of his retail stands taking inventory, when I asked him, "How's business?"

"Great," he said. "All the rhetoric-makers expect 1968 to be the biggest year we've ever had. We got off to a good start at the Republican convention, and there is no reason why we shouldn't do as well or better in Chicago."

"WHAT ITEM has been moving best?"

" 'Law and order' has been the biggest seller this year. We can't even keep the law and order rhetoric in stock. The minute it's put out on the counter, it's grabbed up."

"What else is selling?"

" 'Peace at home and abroad' is a very big item. I don't think there's a politician running for office this year who hasn't bought at least one. 'The crisis of the cities' is also moving very well, but the one that really surprised us was 'a piece of the action.' We made a few as samples, and before we knew it everyone was using it to describe what the minorities wanted. I sold one to Barry Goldwater, one to Senator Brooke, and Nixon bought a gross from me wholesale. We've had so many orders on this one that a lot of politicians have to wait two weeks for delivery on it."

"HOW'S THE 'cry for new leadership' going?"

"That's been a smash down here, of course, but we were prepared for it. I'm not too sure how well it will do in Chicago, though we have had advance orders on it from the McCarthy people."

"In the manufacture of political rhetoric, do you design your own phrases or do you just copy what's been used before?"

"Both. We have the standard rhetoric items such as 'fiscal responsibility' and 'politics of expediency' which the politicians use every four years. But we also have to come up with new rhetoric which will catch the ear of the voter."

"Such as?"

"Well, as you remember, in 1964 a lot of political rhetoric was aimed against the press. This year we've designed rhetoric which will attack the Supreme Court. You can't imagine what a demand there is this year for 'coddling the criminals.' Another one which we came up with is 'Let's not ask what is wrong with America, but what's right with America.' "

"I SEE YOU have one there on the counter titled 'Tell it like it is.' "

"That's been selling like mad, almost as well as 'a man for our time.' Another big surprise is our 'erosion' kit. It comes in a set: 'erosion of the cities,' 'erosion of the dollar,' 'erosion of moral values' and 'erosion of America's prestige abroad.' We've also been doing well with 'rebuilding the urban and slum areas' and 'facing up to the challenges and responsibilities of the disenfranchised.' "

AS WE WERE talking, a politician came up with his campaign manager and said, "Do you have any more 'new and dynamic leadership' rhetoric?"

"Yes, sir," Thesaurus said. "How are you fixed for 'excessive federal spending'?"

"Give me whatever you've got. Do you have any rhetoric on the Pueblo?"

"We're running a special on 'a fourth-rate military power humiliating the most powerful nation in the world.' "

"I'll take two."

"Right. Now what about 'one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all'?"

"No," said the politician. "I don't want to lose the South in my campaign."

Baar Appoints Campaign Boss

Dick Skuse of San Rafael has been appointed campaign manager for Louis H. Baar's campaign for county supervisor from the Fourth District.

Baar, a San Rafael city councilman, is trying to unseat incumbent Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who is completing his first four-year term.

Skuse, a longtime San Francisco public relations counselor, has not previously handled election campaigns. Baar's campaign in the primary was managed by Edward J. Slevin of San Rafael.

MULTIPLE LISTING

The Symbol of

★ SELECTION ★

Buying or selling a home is no easy task. Oftentimes it takes time and effort to find the right combination of buyer and seller. And while it is true that home buyers like a selection of homes to choose from, it is also true that it is to the seller's advantage to have a selection of prospective buyers.

MULTIPLE LISTING gives both buyer and seller this selection. Over 900 experienced real estate professionals are constantly combing the Marin County area seeking both buyers and sellers. This pooling of contacts assures both buyer and seller of the selection each desires.

NEXT TIME you decide to buy or sell your home, make your first move to call any MLS member for fast action!

★ QUESTIONS & ANSWERS ★ ON SELLING YOUR HOME

Q. Is it important that the exterior of the house and lawn be neat?
A. It certainly is. First impressions are lasting. A well trimmed lawn and neat exterior indicate that you care about your home and have taken good care of it.

If you are considering selling your present home, be sure to enlist the services of a qualified Realtor such as WILLIAM TIMMER. Our knowledge of the markets and years of experience will assure you of a successful sale.

CAMPAIGN '68

Peace-Freedom Names Cleaver; Disagreement On Slate Partner

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The Peace and Freedom party nominated Eldridge Cleaver as its presidential candidate yesterday, but rejected his choice for a running mate in favor of regional candidates for vice president.

Cleaver picked Jerry Rubin of New York, head of the Yippies —the Youth International party. But many delegates said Rubin would be unattractive as a serious candidate, so they voted to let each of 20 delegations choose a local vice presidential candidate.

No one said how a vice president would be chosen should the party win the presidency in the November election.

Cleaver is information minister of the Black Panthers.

Cleaver won the nomination with 161½ of the 219 votes cast. Fifty-four votes went to Dick Gregory, a civil rights activist. Three delegates voted for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and the remaining half vote was shared by Dr. Benjamin Spock and Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr.

ELDRIDGE CLEAVER
Nominated

AGNEW ATTACKED

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — While Gov. Spiro T. Agnew stumped on the West Coast in his campaign for the vice presidency, Negro critics back home issued another attack on him.

Directors of the Maryland conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People sent telegrams yesterday "deploring the selection of our governor as the vice presidential candidate of the Republican party" and expressing "our deep concern" about the selection.

One wire went to Rep. Gerald B. Ford who had been chairman of the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach and another to John Bailey, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

The telegram to Bailey expressed belief that Agnew's selection by the Republicans "was an effort to appease the forces of bigotry in the nation."

It said, "If a similar effort is consummated at the National Democratic Convention, it will lead to increased civil disorders and internal strife."

At about the same time the NAACP directors were acting in Annapolis, the headquarters for GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon in San Diego, Calif., was handing out a 74-page statement entitled, "The Agnew Record in Human Relations."

It listed as his accomplishments appointment of Negroes to high positions in Maryland, implementation of a fair employment practice code, the first "really meaningful" special job programs, and tax reform legislation to aid low-income citizens.

HUMPHREY SPEECH

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in an old-fashioned political appeal for labor suppport, said today America needs more than ever before a labor-Democratic Party coalition to fight for "full and equal opportunity for all."

Humphrey spoke to the United Steelworkers Union in the giant amphitheater where he hopes to win the presidential nomination next week.

Humphrey already has been endorsed by the steelworker's executive board and he expects to get the solid backing of the 3,500 delegates who represent 1.2 million members before their 14th Constitutional Convention ends Friday.

"Our success in meeting the challenges before us here at home depends directly on our ability to achieve peace in Vietnam and to slow the arms race," Humphrey declared.

"We can have real peace emerging from the kind of hard bargaining that produced a nuclear test ban treaty and a nonproliferation treaty — the kind of encounter that will, I am confident, bring lasting peace in Vietnam."

Humphrey said "I reject a course" that would withdraw the United States from the world and "renounce our obligations."

McCARTHY STAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey said yesterday that presidential rival Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's proposed Vietnam plank would favor imposing a coalition government, including Viet Cong participation, on South Vietnam.

"I cannot agree with that," Humphrey said.

McCarthy answered that he would not impose a coalition government. But he said if the United States recommended one and South Vietnamese leaders rejected it, the United States should withdraw its support.

Humphrey had indicated he could accept a qualified call in the platform for a U.S. bombing halt in North Vietnam but said yesterday the platform must not lead Hanoi to believe that by stalling it will get an "easier package."

McCarthy said he has never called for an immediate and unconditional bombing halt. "A bombing halt was always related to negotiations," he said.

Humphrey was interviewed on CBS' "Face the Nation;" McCarthy on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

NIXON CAMPAIGN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, plunging into the first national tour of his presidential campaign, has offered his endorsement to all Republican candidates.

But the GOP presidential candidate adds at the same time that he will respect the wishes of Republican office seekers who may want to stand apart, separating their campaigns from his.

Nixon outlined his approach to the old problem of national candidates trying to get along with local ones in a a briefing with newsmen in San Diego yesterday. After talking at length about campaign problems Nixon left on a three-day tour of Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and New York.

MADDOX BRIEFING

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Lester Maddox is turning his attention to national considerations in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, despite two local hurdles not yet crossed—obtaining the support of his own delegation and adequate financing for his campaign.

The Georgia governor said in an interview yesterday he will seek a White House briefing on the Paris peace talks, the Pueblo incident and the current situation in Vietnam prior to going to Chicago, where the Democratic National Convention convenes Aug. 26.

MADDOX DENOUNCED

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox's entry into the Democratic presidential race has been denounced by supporters of Vice President Hubert Humphrey as an attempt to force selection of a Southern running mate.

Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, co-chairman of Californians for Humphrey, said Saturday that Maddox is trying to barter his candidacy for the privilege of handpicking the party's vice presidential nominee.

DEMOCRAT DISPUTES

Settlement of one civil rights dispute appeared near today as the Democratic National Convention's Credentials Committee tackles challenges involving nearly one-fifth of the convention's delegates and alternates.

The 110-member committee, after a closed morning meeting, planned to hear in public session—and perhaps dispose of—a contest over the Mississippi delegation.

But there seemed to be little movement toward solving any of the 18 other contests involving all or part of delegations from 15 states—the largest number of challenges at any modern day national political convention.

Challenges to be heard by the Credentials Committee before Saturday involve, besides Mississsippi, delegates from Tennessee, Washington, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Connecticut, Oklahoma, Texas, Georgia, Alabama, Wisconsin, Louisiana, North Carolina, New York, Michigan and Indiana.

WALLACE PLANS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George C. Wallace, in a televised interview in Chicago yesterday, said he would solve crowding of urban centers by urging industry, "by suggestion and tax incentives," to build plants in rural areas.

Wallace, in Chicago for a series of private meetings, was interviewed on WBBM-TV, a CBS affiliate. He campaigned Friday and Saturday in Indiana.

STUDENT POLITICS

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Many delegates are wearing "Dump Humphrey" buttons and national politics is a main theme in the National Student Association congress.

Nearly 1,000 student leaders from almost 400 campuses are shaping up into three factions. Edward Schwartz, NSA president, said yesterday, the second day of the 10-day meeting.

Besides those desirous of ending the Vietnam war through political action, Schwartz said, there are those who want to make student government more viable on their own campuses, and the third group includes radicals who would give students more power and some prerogatives in university administration.

PRIMARIES

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Rep. Edwin E. Willis, a congressman for more than 26 years, and freshman Rep. John R. Rarick have been forced into runoff primaries Sept. 2 in their efforts to seek renomination.

Sen. Russell B. Long and five other incumbent congressmen won renomination without runoffs as they gained majority votes in Saturday's Democratic primary elections in Louisiana.

Patrick Caffery, 35, a New Iberia attorney, and former state representative forced Willis into the runoff.

Although Willis, 64, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, received 47 per cent of the vote, Caffery picked up 39 per cent.

In the 6th District, Rarick, a former state district court judge, came within about 3,000 votes of a first-primary victory. His opponent in the runoff will be Ossie B. Brown, a Baton Rouge attorney who got 21 per cent of the vote.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Rectal Bleeding Not Always Just A Case Of Hemorrhoids

A reader writes: "There are some things I do not understand. My neighbor died of cancer of the bowel. According to her husband, the woman had no pain before the tumor was discovered, yet she was beyond help when the operation was performed.

We were told that she had small bleeding piles but otherwise felt fine. Is this possible?"

VAN DELLEN

YES, MANY malignancies are discovered after they are well-advanced. On the other hand, rectal bleeding was the important clue, and this woman is dead because it was assumed the blood was coming from hemorrhoids.

It is true that piles are the most common cause for loss of blood, but life is too precious to take such a gamble. Hemorrhoids can co-exist but bleeding may be coming from a tumor in the rectum or large intestine.

Blood loss is common in iron deficiency anemia, and the individual may not be aware of any rectal bleeding because the daily amount lost is too small to discolor the excretions.

IN TIME severe anemia develops, and unless the cause is pinpointed, the individual may be doomed. Many of these people lose the chance to be cured when they procrastinate by taking tonics for fatigue or "tired blood."

Other symptoms of this type of cancer are changes in bowel function, and abdominal cramps or pain. Three out of 4 of these tumors are located in the rectum or lowest part of the large intestine and can be seen via a "procto" examination.

The physician examines the interior with a hollow device (sigmoidoscope) about 10 inches long that has an eyepiece at one end and a light at the other. Biopsy is done when the tumor is questionable.

Diagnosis also involves a barium enema. Surgery is advised as soon as the tumor is detected. Complete recovery can be expected so long as the malignancy has not extended beyond the rectum or intestine.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

TINGLING IN ARM

R. H. H. writes: Can you tell me what causes an arm to feel as if it has gone to sleep? This happens several times a day and when it does, a tingly sensation follows.

REPLY

This sensation usually stems from pressure on the nerve anywhere from the spinal cord to the hand. Other neurological diseases such as muscular dystrophy also cause the symptom.

TOUGHENING THE PALMS

A. T. writes: Is there any substance that can be applied to toughen the hands of the weekend golfer?

REPLY

Golf golves were invented for this purpose. An astringent such as rubbing alcohol may help. Why not swing the clubs in the yard or at the driving range every evening after dinner?

ANGINA EXPLAINED

J. F. writes: What is angina pectoris? I have a special reason for asking.

REPLY

This is a chest pain due to narrowing of the coronary arteries. Circulation to the heart muscle is adequate at rest or when calm, but not on exertion or when excited or angry.

INDIVIDUAL PREFERENCE

G. M. writes: What effect does pure spring water have on a person's body?

REPLY

Water, be it tap or spring, prevents dehydration. Some people prefer pure water because their own supply has a disagreeable taste or smell.

McGovern Links Urban Crisis, Farm Trouble

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Sen. George McGovern is set to announce a wide-ranging four-point program to deal with what he characterizes as the "most neglected issue in the present polictical campaign" — the farm problem. (See also story on page 12.)

The South Dakotan, who recently threw his hat into the Democratic presidential ring, will spell out his proposals in a speech in Kearney, Neb., Thursday. The address is particularly aimed at the Middle West, where McGovern hopes to garner delegate support — an effort in which he has had little success so far.

McGovern's basic thesis is that the "urban crisis" in large part is due to highly adverse rural conditions resulting in steady large-scale migration to the cities. He argues that by improving agricultural conditions much progress can be made in eliminating serious urban problems.

"Reversing the trend of migration from country to city to a city-to-rural area patterns is urgently needed," McGovern will declare.

To attain this objective, he enunciated the following four-point plan:

1. "Lift price or income supports to full parity returns to farm families, supplemented by such legislation as is needed to permit farmers to bargain for a fair return.

2. "Expand credit at reasonable terms to farmers through farm credit banks, Farmers Home Administration and Rural Electrification Administration, to meet all sound farm credit requirements beyond the capacity of private agencies to handle.

3. "Immediate establishment of a strategic commodity reserve to pull excess supplies of wheat, feed grains and soybeans out of free markets into a tightly held reserve to meet emergencies in the U.S. and nations dependent on us. This removal of excesses should be large enough to raise current farm returns from wheat, feeds and soybeans to full parity.

4. "Correction of urban-rural population imbalance with a rural rehabilitation program which includes use of tax incentives, and placement of a part of the federal government's $90 billion annual procurement of goods and services to stimulate rural industrial development."

Noting that wheat prices, now under $1.25 a bushel, are the "lowest in a quarter century," and that corn has dropped to below $1 a bushel, "the lowest level since 1942," McGovern will warn this portends serious threats for the future.

"We are weakening both agricultural and our backlog of trained agricultural experts by our failure to allow farmers a decent return for their products," the South Dakota presidential aspirant will say. "The decline in the number of farms continues at a rate of 80,000 to 100,000 farms a year.

Because agriculture has become so unattractive, enrollment in many agricultural colleges has fallen and we may be heading into a shortage of trained agriculturalists for domestic needs at a time when we should be training a corps to help meet the critical world food production problem. Our finest resource for building international peace is our food and agricultural know-how."

"We must do everything in our power to preserve and improve this invaluable resource. That's why I solemnly assert that the agricultural problem is of greatest importance, not only in rural America, but also for solving the problems of our cities and the world at large."

Low Bidder

Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael was the low bidder at $62,263 for a state Division of Highways project increasing the banking on two south-bound curves about 2.8 miles norht of Novato on Highway 101.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Inside Story Of Science At Harvard

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI) — The children gathered outside their father's place of work and shouted:

"Did you find it yet, daddy?"

A charming domestic scene except that the place of work was the Harvard Biological Laboratory and on the answer to the childish question depended some of the most important work on which science is now engaged anywhere.

"Daddy" — Dr. Walter Gilbert, 34, a brilliant theoretical pyisicist — was leading one of the teams searching in living cells for signs of a "represser." If this existed and could be isolated it might be invaluable in controlling some of the harmful characteristics passed on by heredity, perhaps even lead to an attack on those viruses believed to cause cancers.

His three children, the eldest nine, knew only that Dr. Gilbert came home tired every night and yet could not wait to get back to the laboratory because he was looking for something terribly important.

The dramatic search for the "represser" — and the moment of qualified triumph — came as a bonus to Ernest Pendrell, one of the more imaginative of our documentary producers, whose close-up study of "The Scientist" will have its first showing on ABC-TV Friday Nov. 29.

"It takes audacious thinking to make new advances in science," Pendrell said. "That's why the best work is done when scientists are young, when they think like poets before the critical faculties of maturity act as a brake."

Pilot Awarded Bronze Star

Chief Warrent Officer Gary R. Weiland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence L. Weiland of Lagunitas, has been awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service as a helicopter pilot in Vietnam.

The 27-year-old pilot has received 26 awards of the Air Medal for combat missions and was awarded the Distringuished Flying Cross last month for heroism.

A 1958 graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, Weiland is now an instructor at the Army Primary Helicopter School, Fort Wolters, Tex.

U. S. Netters Sink Spanish Tennis Armada

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Remember Barcelona!" and the American Davis Cup team did.

Uncle Sam sank the Spanish tennis Armada yesterday, winning the crucial interzone series and becoming highly favored to sail on and capture the coveted Cup in Australia in December.

The Americans last accomplished this mission in 1963. And it looked as if they were on their way again in 1965. But in Barcelona, the Spaniards squelched them 4-1. They never forgot it.

Powerful Clark Graebner, Wimbledon semifinalist and National Clay Courts champion this year, fired the deciding broadside yesterday.

He defeated Juan Gisbert, 26-year-old Barcelona attorney, 9-7, 6-3, 6-1 in the climactic first singles engagement that cinched the best-of-5 interzone series for the U.S., 3-1.

The final score, however, must await today's delayed outcome of the match between Arthur Ashe, on loan from the Army, against Spain's superstar Manuel Santana. The two battled for 3 hours, 45 minutes to a deadlocq yesterday before the match was halted by darkness.

Santana won the first set 13-11. Ashe, who aced a total of 26 times, took the next two 7-5 and 6-3. Then the 30-year-old Spaniard struggled to a 15-13 triumph in the 90-minute fourth set.

With one point being awarded for each match victory, it remains for the Santana-Ashe affair to decide if the U.S. took the series 4-1 or 3-2.

Both team captains, Jaime Bartroli of Spain and Don Dell of the U.S., said that although the last match was anti-climactic the pride of the countries as well as that of the players was involved.

Spain was the big hurdle in the American's road to Australia, whose team is decimated by its big stars turning professional.

The U.S. swept pasts British West Indies, Mexico and Ecuador with 5-0 triumphs. In the interzone lineup, the Americans now must wait until India plays Japan in Tokyo Sept. 21-23, with the survivor advancing within the following two weeks to face West Germany in Munich.

That winner then will meet the Americans, who can choose the site of the match. Most prominently mentioned are Phoenix, Ariz., Honolulu, San Juan, Puerto Rico, and Los Angeles.

After that, the winner challenges the Aussies for the cup in Adelaide.

"Beating Spain was our big assignment," said Dell. "I think we will be ready to go on and take the cup."

Yanks Nip Athletics In 10; Giants Downed By Phillies

Senators Invade Coliseum

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland A's are through playing the New York Yankees for the 1968 season, and maybe it's just as well.

The Yankees came to town Thursday night with the two clubs all tied up at seven victories apiece in the season series.

The New Yorkers made it three straight over the A's yesterday before the second largest crowd of the year in Oakland—41,044—and completed their season's work with a 10-8 edge, as they walked their way to a 7-5 victory in 10 innings.

KRAUSSE LOSES

Lew Krausse, who doesn't care to be a reliever because he feels his arm isn't geared for it, was the losing pitcher. He was the sixth of seven hurlers used by Manager Bob Kennedy, and he simply fell apart in the 10th.

Krausse walked Tom Tresh to open the inning and then was sabotaged by the A's infield. Second baseman John Donaldson was slow covering first on a sacrifice bunt by Roy White and then first baseman Danny Cater was late with a throw to third as a sacrifice bunt by Andy Kosco loaded the bases.

Krausse, who served up a three-run ninth inning homer to Kosco in Saturday night's 3-1 loss to New York, then walked Rocky Colavito to force in the winning run and one out later passed Frank Fernandez as well to force in an insurance run.

McDANIEL WINS

Lindy McDaniel, cut loose by the San Francisco Giants in July because they thought he was no longer effective, pitched one-hit ball over the final 3 1-3 innings to pick up his second victory. He also has six saves in just 13 appearances with the Yankees.

"This is the way I like to work," said McDaniel, who was making his fourth appearance of the week. "That's all I wanted at San Francisco—steady work—but I guess I never figured in their plans. It's just as well because I'm happy here."

Kennedy threw a total of 21 players into the three hour and 11 minute struggle after the Yankees jumped to a 4-0 lead in the second. Fernandez's two-run triple was the key blow in the New York rally.

JACKSON HOMERS

Reggie Jackson, admired by Casey Stengel before the game on the old manager's "day" in Oakland, obliged by ripping his 23rd homer in the third to get one of those runs back and chased two more runs across with a double during a three-run fifth inning rally.

The Yankees went ahead, 5-4, on Kosco's bases-empty homer in the sixth but the A's tied it in the bottom of the frame on a single by Dave Duncan. Dick Green opened the Oakland half with a single and gave way to pinch-runner Allen Lewis, who was sacrificed to second, stole third and came across on Duncan's smash.

THE 'ARM'

The A's could have won it in the seventh but Colavito made one of his famed rifle throws to cut down Bert Campaneris at the plate when the speedy Oakland shortstop tried to score from second on a single to left by Cater.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the A's start a three-game series with the Washington Senators. John Olson (11-8) pitches against the Senators' Barry Moore (1-5). The two clubs will play a twi-night twinbill tomorrow starting at 6 p.m.

TIME FOR NOSTALGIA

Oaks Oldtimers Turn Back Seals

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

OAKLAND — Charlie Gassaway got a three-bagger, but the best Joe DiMaggio could do was a single.

That's the way it was yesterday as the 1948 Oakland Oaks beat the 1948 San Francisco Seals 3-1 in two six-out innings of a kind of baseball.

The '48 Oaks, who were known as the "Nine Old Men" even 20 years ago when Casey Stengel managed them to a Pacific Coast League pennant, well filled the Oakland A's uniforms borrowed for the day — which was "Casey Stengel Day" at the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum.

The base running and defensive play of the two teams of yesteryear's ball players didn't exactly have big league snap. But the Oaks did put together a double play.

A procession of pitchers, which included Ralph Buxton, Alden Wilkie, Jack Salveson and Damon Hayes for the Oaks, and Cliff Melton, Bob Joyce, Con Dempsey, Manny Perez and Bill Werle for the Seals, didn't have that real good stuff; but they managed to get the ball over the plate fairly regularly. Gassaway didn't pitch; he tagged the three-bagger as a pinch hitter.

Lefty O'Doul, who "managed" the Seals, didn't have a chance to complain about pine tar in Buxton's glove — as he did back in '48 — because the pitchers didn't use any gloves.

Anyhow, it was pure nostalgia for the 41,000-plus fans.

Oh, yes, in the regular American League game that followed, the Oakland A's (is that for Acorns?) bowed to the New York Yankees, 7-5 in 10 innings.

Clippers Continue Win String

PASADENA (UPI)—The Oakland Clippers have extended their North American Soccer League winning streak to six games.

The Clippers, with Ademar Saccone scoring three goals, defeated the Los Angeles Wolves 4-2 before a Rose Bowl crowd of 1,719 yesterday.

The victory left Oakland with a 15-8-5 record in the league's Pacific Division.

Ilija Mitic scored the other Clipper goal while Ray Veall tallied both times for the Wolves.

Los Angeles slipped to a 9-10-8 record.

New York Next Stop For S.F.

NEW YORK (AP)—Rich Allen of the Philadelphia Phillies bid farewell to the San Francisco Giants in his accustomed style. But it was Bill White who really gave them a rousing sendoff.

Allen, who hits Giant pitching with regularity, blasted a homer and double yesterday in the final game of the season between the Phillies and San Francisco.

TWO FOR WHITE

White, however, surpassed Allen's hitting heroics by smashing two homers and driving in three runs as the Phils defeated the Giants 5-3.

The Giants are in New York tonight, sending Bob Bolin, 6-4, against the Mets' mound ace, rookie Jerry Koosman, 16-7.

The Phillies snapped a 3-3 tie in the eighth inning on back-to-back homers by Allen and White to win yesterday's extraordinary contest, which featured clutch pitching, hittings and defense.

2-0 LEAD

White had sent the Phils to a 2-0 lead in the second, hitting a two-run homer off Giants' starter Gaylord Perry. Allen was on base via a double.

The Giants tied it in the sixth on Dick Dietz's two-run single with the bases loaded and two out.

Singles by Johnny Briggs, Allen and Cookie Rojas sent the Phillies ahead again in the bottom of the sixth. The Giants tied it in the seventh on Bobby Bonds' two-out single that scored Frank Johnson.

SETS STAGE

That set the stage for Allen's 25th homer off reliever and loser Bill Monbouquette, 0-1. White greeted Joe Gibbon with his ninth round-tripper after Allen's blast.

Allen wound up the season hitting .441, with four homers and six runs batted in against the Giants.

Short pitched seven tough innings, striking out 11 before leaving for a pinch hitter in the seventh. Reliever Gary Wagner picked up the victory his second in four decisions.

DON LAZZARINI
Meadow Club champ

Lazzarini Wins Third Golf Title

Twenty-seven-year-old Don Lazzarini of San Anselmo captured his third consecutive Meadow Club golf championship yesterday at the Fairfax links.

Unlike last year, when he barely beat Paul Buchholz by one stroke, the power hitting Lazzarini made it a breeze this time, beating runnerup Dr. Marv Gilberg by a whopping nine-stroke margin in the 72-hole tournment.

Lazzarini coasted to a 76 in yesterday's final outing following earlier round of 69, 76 and 70 for a total of 291. Dr. Gilberg had a 300 followed by Homer Scott at 305.

In the handicap division, John McCormick breezed to the title with a 274 total, five strokes better than runnerup Dr. John Cann. Then came Richard Godwin at 280, Dr. John McGee and Ernie Fairey each with 287.

Calm, Cool Boros Wins Top Prize

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Watching him play, all loose and relaxed and smooth-swinging, you'd think there wasn't a nerve, not a one, in Julius Boros' middle-aged, over-weight body.

Not so, admitted Big Julie after surviving a five-man scramble yesterday and nailing down the $50,000 first prize in the $250,000 Westchester Classic Golf Tournament, the richest on the pro tour.

AT TIMES

"I know what it looks like," the 48-year-old Boros said. "But I get the flutters sometimes, just like anybody else. There are times out there when I get excited."

Boros, who became the oldest man to win the Professional Golfers' Association championship earlier this year, came from three strokes off the pace with a final round 68, four-under-par for the tight, 6-648-yard Westchester Country Club course, and finished with a 72-hole total of 272.

Jack Nicklaus, defending champion and seeking his third consecutive tour victory, veteran Dan Sikes and red-headed Bob Murphy, the rookie who led all of the first three rounds, finished in a tie for second, at 273.

NICKLAUS 66

Nicklaus had a closing 66, Sikes a 68 and the obviously nervous Murphy a par 72. They picked up $20,416.66 apiece.

Billy Casper, who was in the thick of it all before fading, was alone in fifth place with a 67 for 275.

Boros, 20 pounds overweight and at times bothered by an ailing back, increased his yearly earnings to $144,357, and started thinking about the tax man.

"I've got to pay my third quarter estimate in September," he mused after noting that it wasn't his biggest payday.

"I won a $50,000 first prize in a world championship they used to have, back in 1955. And I played 56 exhibitions at $1,000 a shot. So that brought me $106,000.

BOTHERED BY BEE

Young Murphy, bothered by a bee before he could get off the first tee—"It must have taken me three minutes to fight it off"—bogeyed the opening hole and had lost the lead to Boros when they made the turn.

Nicklaus, Sikes and Casper each made a run at the lead at one time or another and there was a three-way tie for first when Nicklaus finished his round with a birdie after coming out of a trap.

That put him 15 under for the tournament with Boros and Murphy also 15 under and still on the course. But Murphy parred in, playing it safe on the par five final hole. Boros was in a trap on his second shot, exploded out to within 12 feet of the cup and calmly ran in the putt that won it. Sikes came in still later.

49ers Thumped By Browns

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The more San Francisco 49er Coach Dick Nolan sees of his offense, the more he likes to talk about his defense.

The 49ers failed to move the ball much for the third straight time yesterday when they dropped a National Football League exhibition game to the Cleveland Browns 31-17.

BRIGHT SPOTS

But Nolan, in his first year with the 49ers, still found some bright spots.

"We contained their running attack," he said. "And they've got the best one in the league. We just made too many mistakes."

Told of Nolan's remarks, defensive end Clark Miller said, "It doesn't do any good to contain the running when they hit the long bombs. When they hit on long passes it means I'm not doing my job in rushing the passer enough."

24-7 LEAD

The Browns, aided by two key interceptions late in the first half, took a 24-7 halftime lead. San Francisco closed the gap to 24-17 early in the fourth period but Leroy Kelly's second touchdown of the afternoon iced the victory.

The interceptions of George Mira passes by Erich Barnes and Dale Lindsey were both deep in 49er territory. It was little trouble for Bill Nelsen to convert them both into touchdowns.

NO OFFENSE

But while Nelsen and Frank Ryan moved Cleveland successfully, neither Mira nor John Brodie had much luck with the 49ers. They ended with just 204 total yards and only 118 through the air.

Still, Cleveland Coach Blanton Collier said, "This could be the finest 49er team I've seen. They have got some fine players and I think they've got the makings of a fine defensive team. They put us in the hole several times."

Relay Record Set In Channel Swim

DOVER, England (AP) — Tom Hetzell, a New York City policeman, and Ted Erikson of Chicago helped a relay team of six swimmers set a record for swimming the English Channel yesterday.

The other members of the team were two Australians, John Koorey and Peter Ritchie, and two girls, Hedy Schmidt of Canada and Rosemary George of England.

The six had been waiting in Dover nearly a month to make individual channel swims that were ruled out because of bad weather.

"The waiting became so frustrating," Hetzell said. "That we decided to beat the relay record."

Bosox Use Bunts To Beat Tigers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The bunting game is something Detroit might be able to do without, but Juan Pizarro and the Boston Red Sox are ready and willing to make sacrifices. . .anytime they help cage the runaway Tigers.

The Red Sox, losers Saturday in a 10-9 struggle that turned on a pair of botched Detroit bunts, put on their own bunting exhibition yesterday in trimming the Tigers 4-1 behind left-hander Pizarro.

Three perfectly executed sacrifice bunts, including a go-ahead squeeze by Pizarro, helped the Red Sox salvage the finale of a three-game series as Detroit's American League lead slipped to seven games over second place Baltimore.

The Orioles whipped Minnesota 7-1 on Frank Robinson's slugging; the New York Yankees strolled past Oakland 7-5 in 10 innings; Tommy John and Joe Horlen hurled the Chicago White Sox to a 4-2, 8-1 doubleheader sweep over Cleveland, and California downed Washington 6-4 despite Frank Howard's 35th homer in other A.L. games.

Boston and Detroit were knotted at 1-1, in the seventh inning yesterday when Joe Foey doubled and Russ Gibson bunted him to third. With a 3-2 count on Pizarro, Foy broke for the plate and the pitcher dropped a bunt toward second base, giving the Tigers no chance for a play at home.

Mike Andrews then drew a walk and Dalton Jones belted a home run, making it 4-1. Andrews failed to hit safely for the first time in 10 games, but his sacrifice bunt in the third moved Pizarro, who had walked, to second and Carl Yastrzemski delivered a two-out single for Boston's first run.

Pizarro checked the Tigers on four hits, including Horton's 28th homer, on the way to his fifth victory in nine decisions.

Case Of Sticky-Fingered Vulture

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Label this file The Case of the Sticky Fingered Vulture or Where Did This Bird Get All That Gooey Stuff?

Chief sleuth in the caper is umpire Chris Pelekoudas, who claims he found the incriminating evidence. . .vaseline. . .on the cap of the suspect, Slipppery Phil Regan—alias the vulture—who works with that gang from Chicago.

The main defense attorney is Leo Durocher, an eloquent speaker. His able assistants are Randy Hundley and Al Spangler, two other members of the Chicago gang, who call themselves the Cubs.

All three lawyers were ejected protesting Regain's innocence, and the Cubs lost the ball game, 2-1 to Cincinnati yesterday. The Reds also took the second game of the doubleheader, 6-3, extending their winning streak to six games.

In other National League games, St. Louis pounded Atlanta 10-1, Philadelphia tripped San Francisco 5-3, Pittsburgh dropped Los Angeles 5-1 and New York split a doubleheader with Houston, winning 8-1 before losing 5-2.

The Regan fuss erupted in the seventh inning of the first game against the Reds when the veteran reliever came in to face pinch hitter Mack Jones. With the count 1-2 on Jones, Pelekoudas went to the mound to warn Regan about illegal pitches and changed the count to 3-1.

Durocher rushed to his pitcher's defense and the umpire and manager compromised on a 2-2 count. Then Jones apparently flied out but Pelekoudas nullified the play, ruling another illegal pitch and giving Jones another swing.

Now Durocher argued again and the umpires demanded a towel to wipe off the inside of Regan's cap. Durocher and Spangler, who interjected his thoughts from the bench, were both thumbed out and Jones finally grounded out.

In the ninth inning Pete Rose apparently struck out against Regan but again Pelekoudas nullified the out and gave the batter another swing. This time Rose singled and Hundley, the Cubs' catcher, was ejected.

"We found vaseline on his cap," charged Pelekoudas. "His ball was sinking without spinning. A sinker spins. An illegal pitch breaks down without any spin."

Regan was indignant at the charge. "The umpires are taking my livelihood away from me," he said. "I'm going to court about this."

WATER SKIING–VII

Here's Fast Way To Stop

(Seventh of 12 lessons)

By WILLIAM D. CLIFFORD
Executive Manager, American Water Ski Association

A safe beach landing on water skis requires the skier to come in parallel to the shoreline, never head-on, but even so he may need to slow down faster than he or his driver had figured before he released the tow handle. All he needs to do is squat and let his slightly cupped hands drag in the water. If he still is in danger of running into an object or a person in the water, he can apply the big brakes simply by sitting back in the water, forcing his skis to ride completely clear. He will stop on a wet dime.

Bo Belinsky Hurls No-Hitter In PCL

COMBINED AP & UPI

Bo Belinsky, who pitched a no-hitter in the American League in 1962, tossed another one yesterday in the Pacific Coast League.

The handsome 31-year-old southpaw struck out 10 and walked four as he led the Hawaii Islanders to a 1-0 win over the Tacoma Cubs.

Belinsky got a dramatic assist from veteran outfielder Joe Gains, who ran up against the fence to snare a booming fly off the bat of San Anselmo's John Boccabella to end the game after the Cubs had loaded the bases on two walks and an error.

Belinsky chalked up the first no-hitter in Los Angeles major League history on May 5, 1962, when he blanked the Baltimore Orioles, 2-0, while pitching for the Angels.

South Has Edge In Backs For Thursday's Grid Clash

By GARY TISCHLER

(Sixth in a series previewing the North-South All-Stars who will play in the Ross Valley Kiwanis game Thursday.)

The North may have all the beef and edge on the line Thursday but it's going to need it to stop a wild and proven pack of South backs in the annual Ross Valley Kiwanis North-South Marin All-Star football classic at College of Marin stadium.

The South has a definite edge there and let's take a look at the talent.

James Finnegan, an explosive, close-to-the-ground runner, made All-Marin County Athletic League honors as a junior before Marin Catholic dropped out of the league. He still found time to threaten a tough Terra Linda defense in the final game of the 1967 season. He's 5-foot-7, 185 pounds, quick and hits hard.

Ron Blasingame developed into a straight-ahead, powerful fullback for Tamalpais last year. A head-down runner along the classic lines at 6-1, 186, he made all-league honors last year.

Greg King is a small (140 pounds) halfback from Marin Catholic who is headed for the University of Santa Clara.

Larry Blackwell was the league's top outside threat last year in this first and only year at Redwood. Somewhat brittle, he's a definite breakaway threat with outstanding moves. He's 5-9, 186 pounds, all-league.

Mike Fowler is another back that made all-league honors as a junior at fullback, but played halfback for Tamalpais last year. He hits like a bulldozer, is a good receiver and is headed for San Francisco State.

Don Alvarado — and the name may be enough — gobbled up enough honors to fill a truck as a flanker and running back as well as a defensive halfback. The MCAL's player of the year, participant and starter in the state North-South Shrine game.

Joe Murphy is a rugged 175-pound halfback who goes both ways, one of Redwood's underrated and oft-injured players.

The North, while at a disadvantage, has some good backs.

Ken Murray, who spent the latter part of the 1968 season out with an injury for Terra Linda, is back and appears hungry. He'll probably go at fullback and defensive linebacker.

Keigh Stirling was the MCAL's leafing rusher last year as a Terra Linda Trojan, making all-league and second team all-North Coast. He's 165, 5-9.

Steve Berringer is one of San Rafael's mainstays at defensive haifback as the Bulldogs won one loop game and tied another on shutouts.

Rod Henderson was team captain at San Rafael Military Academy, weighs in at a skimpy 125 pounds, plays halfback an defensive back. Bound for Oregon State.

Chuck Day of Novato is another lightweight at 145 pounds, who got loop honorable mention honors last year can do spot duty as a place kicker. He's headed for College of Marin.

Ted Pollock was San Rafael Military Academy's starting fullback and a defensive halfback for the past two years. He was the team's most valuable back. He'll be at the University of California, Davis, this fall.

Rod Powell was Terra Linda's slam-bang fullback last year, weighs in at a solid 185 pounds. was most inspirational player on a very inspired team. He's a punter too, will go to either Michigan or Oregon State.

Gary Dellepere of Tomales made all-league both ways two years running now at offensive and defensive halfback. He was top student-athlete along with Alvarado from Marin County.

Young Driver Sets Quarter-Midget Mark

Thirteen-year-old Bill McNultyof San Rafael had a field day in the quarter-midget auto races at Santa Rosa yesterday, setting a track record and winning the main event and trophy dash races in "Light B Class" competition.

His young brother, Pat, 12, wasn't as fortunate, however. His car suffered a broken axel in the Senior Stock Race so he was shut out of the winner's circle.

Three In Tennis Hall Of Fame

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Three players who rank among the all-time greats were enshrined yesterday in the National Lawn Tennis Hall of Fame at Newport.

They were Jack Kramer, Maurine Connolly Brinker and Pancho Gonzalez.

Two other persons connected with the sport were also enshshrined. They were the late sportswoman Eleanora Sears and Allison Danzig, retired tennis writer for the New York Times.

Holiday Inn Opening Scheduled For Next Spring In Terra Linda

Although ground was broken for Holiday Inn at the northeast corner of 101 Highway and Manuel T. Freitas Parkway last week, the projected opening date is now scheduled for well into 1969 — probably next April.

E. D. McGillicuddy Construction Co. of Novato is general contractor appointed for the first phase of the complex, which will consist of 118 hotel rooms, restaurant, cocktail lounge and convention facilities.

The nine-acre knollsite is one of the choice table-top spots of the area. It overlooks Northgate, Terra Linda Valley, Marin County Civic Center and other panoramic vistas for miles in all directions. Until now it has escaped a developer's hands and is a prime location for a hotel and convention project. Robert Smedley, who heads G.I.F. Properties of Akron, Ohio (now the land owner and also owner of other Holiday Inn locations), reports that the knoll first came to his attention in 1962 and he was surprised to find it still available.

Holiday Inn will be lease-operated by Chatmar, Inc., San Francisco, which also operates Holiday Inns in Concord and Carmel Valley and will do the same for new inns under construction in Monterey and Santa Cruz. The corporation is headed by Hugh M. Chatham, president, and Jere M. Hooper, vice president and general manager.

Access will be by a road to be constructed to the knoll top from the present easement at Manuel T. Freitas Parkway between the Texaco and Standard Oil service stations.

FAST DEVELOPING little business in Mill Valley is called Harlequin Enterprises, recently opened at 20 Sunnyside Avenue.

Owner Mrs. Ute Goggins originally started work in her garage designing five by seven-inch color postcards and posters for retailing in art shops in Marin and San Francisco. She is now getting into more commercial and specialty aspects of this business.

Husband Patrick, a lawbook salesman for Bancroft-Whitney Co., San Francisco, helps her on weekends doing the photographic work. Mrs. Goggins does no retailing, but is engaged entirely in production and wholesaling. Around-the-clock telephone answering service is maintained.

ALVIN ROLAND KUHN of Tiburon has been appointed an account executive at the San Francisco office of Dean Witter and Co. He was formerly divisional marketing manager of paper products for Crown Zellerbach Corp.

Kuhn

Tremewan

STANLEY TREMEWAN of San Rafael has been appointed sales representative in San Francisco for American Airlines. He joined the company in 1964 as a management trainee and since then has served as analyst, in passenger sales and services training and as sales representative in Cleveland.

Gains Outnumber Losses As Market Closes High

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today in moderate trading.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 300 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Prices rose from the start and held a fairly good gain throughout the session.

Actively traded gainers included Martin Marietta, Brunswick, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Flintkote and California Financial.

Glen Alden was ahead of the rest of the list on volume, edging higher.

Among other active issues, Flintkote gained about 2 while Sinclair, Brunswick and International Paper were up about a point each. American Cement dipped more than a point.

Benguet traded for the first time since last Tuesday when the New York Stock Exchange halted the stock pending clarification of an Internal Revenue ruling regarding the interest equalization tax. Benguet rose ⅝ to 11⅜ on an opening block of 17,000 shares and improved the gain slightly in later dealings.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Wells Fargo Plans National Charter

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Stockholders of Wells Fargo Bank have approved conversion of the bank to a national charter.

Richard P. Cooley, president and chief executive officer, said the charter change now needs only final approval from the comptroller of the currency.

If approved, the bank's corporate name will be changed to "Wells Fargo Bank, National Association" or "Wells Fargo Bank, N.A."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Young Investors Can Wait For Mergers To Pay Off

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What's happened to Commercial Credit? I own 100 shares in my retirement fund. Should I sell this and build up my General Motors and Jersey Standard? — C. McC. Jr.

A. For retired people needing income I recommend switching from Commercial Credit to any one of my recent income-producing selections or to one or more of their own stocks which provide a substantial yield. In a period of market uncertainty there are usually some good yields to be found among income stocks.

Commercial Credit had a poor first quarter this year; and if it were to try to remain independent, annual earnings might — or might not — equal the $2.41 a share reported for 1967. Last year the company entered the computer-leasing field when enthusiasm for this kind of an operation was running high. It would seem that a merger with Control Data could benefit both partners. But there is no assurance of any immediate dividend from Control Data, which has not distributed stock since 1964 and has never paid a cash dividend. Any of my younger readers might do well to accept the merger terms if stockholders confirmed same on Aug. 15 and no adverse factors intervene.

Q. Last May I bought 100 International Rectifier at 21½. The stock seems to have gone into a slump. Does it have future potential? — M.M., R.M.

A. I think it does, and I advised my readers once before to hold this stock although it could be another year before the expected turnaround makes a better market for the shares. Despite the likelihood of improved earnings for the fourth fiscal quarter ended June 30, the company expects to show a deficit for the year. Factors supporting a turnaround include aggressive expansion into pharmaceuticals and medical electronics — areas generally expected to show better than average growth; a pickup in sales of IR's original product lines in semiconductors, and continued progress in overseas operations. Patience is the keyword in this situation.

Palmer Named To ISI Board

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — H. Bruce Palmer, president of the National Industrial Conference Board, has been elected to the board of directors of ISI trust fund, it has been announced by Richard L. McKee, chairman of the board of the trust fund.

Palmer was formerly president of Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., with which he was associated from 1931-62.

He has been a member of the million dollar round table of the National Association of Life Underwriters, and was named "Insurance Man of The Year" in 1959 by the Federation of Insurance Counsel.
